Britain Renews Alarm of Nazi Invasion Peril

Stronger Ties For Americas Are Forecast

Closer Military Co-operation Would Give Answer to Axis.

By The United Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Informed sources predicted tonight that closer military co-operation between the United States and her 20 sister-American republics soon will be established as an answer to the new Berlin-Rome-Tokyo pact.

Speculation over such a possibility, as well as other reports that the administration is working toward closer co-operation with Great Britain, occupied the attention of diplomatic experts over the weekend in the absence of any new developments in the tense international situation.

Some observers believed that Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles had, in mind steps toward closer inter-American co-operation when, in a speech delivered at Cleveland, Ohio, Saturday, he said that all the Americas were eager and prepared to share common responsibilities and that there might be an announcement shortly which would clarify this statement.

Military Inspection.
Observers emphasized importance of the forthcoming inspection of United States defense establishments by military chiefs of Latin American nations, in view of the belief that this country is seeking to work out greater co-operation between the 21 republics.

The visit of the Latin Americans, it was pointed out, would provide an excellent opportunity for full discussion of mutual problems and proposals for pooling of resources and facilities. Observers also noted that a display of this country's defenses might have a psychological effect on the visitors which would be beneficial from this country's viewpoint.

Twenty-three military experts from nine American nations—many of whom already are in Washington—start their inspection tour Tuesday. Military representatives of the other 11 American republics will start a similar tour October 16.

Continental Defense.
Some informed quarters believed that the tours might result in promulgation of technical plans for continental defense, which later would be submitted to the 21 republics through diplomatic channels for formal consideration. Most observers felt that, in any event, the new Axis treaty will tend to draw the American nations closer together and stimulate plans for defending the western hemisphere against any attempted invasion.

Some sources believed it possible that an agreement might be reached which would be tantamount to a mutual assistance pact. Such a pact, as envisioned by these observers, would provide that if any American nation was attacked, its 20 sister republics would come to its aid.

Paris Hunger Worst Since Famine of 1870

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, Sept. 25.—(via Berlin, delayed)—A true picture of Paris under German occupation in 1940 would have as one of its main panels a view of a food queue and one of a ration card.

Frenchmen say that never since the famine of 1870 has it been so difficult to obtain food in Paris. This one-time capital of good food has felt in its stomach the lack of transportation and the shattering of its economy.

When butter and oil disappeared completely French cooks found themselves baffled. They might have been able to get something to cook, but they didn't know how to cook it.

Other staples such as cheese, eggs, and coffee, disappeared, and rice, spaghetti, milk, chocolate and salt were scarce and obtained only after long waits in line.

The food-card system was conceded by most people to be fair but, like so many French measures, it tends to be complicated. Lines form for everything now. Hundreds fall in before coffee bars to get breakfast.

Author Cooper Complete Ban Hangs Himself On Supplies to In N. Y. Hotel Axis Is Sought

Had Been Morose Over Alleged Snubs Received in Washington.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Courtney Ryley Cooper, 53, author and "circus fan No. 1," hanged himself in a closet of a Park Central hotel room yesterday. His body was found early today by hotel attendants.

Mrs. Cooper, the former Genevieve R. Furey, of Los Angeles, Cal., could advance no reason for his suicide but told police he had been morose over alleged snubs he had received in Washington when he sought to inform officials of German activities he said he discovered in Mexico.

Talked With Hoover.
Finally, she said, he had conferred with his close friend and writing collaborator, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, but she did not know the result of their conferences. Mrs. Cooper said her husband made an exhaustive investigation in Mexico several months ago and unearthed details of German conditions and propaganda there.

B. E. Sackett, special agent in charge of the FBI office here, said, however, that neither Hoover nor any other member of the FBI had talked with Cooper about the Mexican matter.

"We had not seen or heard from him since he returned and we do not know what he did while in Mexico," Sackett said. "Cooper, though a close friend of many of us in the FBI, was in no way connected with the FBI."

Detective Caswell Jacobs, who pronounced his death a suicide, said he found an unsigned note in Cooper's room. It said: "In my clothes is $43 in cash. I think my bill is about $32. Give the hotel $32."

Wife Hysterical.
Mrs. Cooper became hysterical and was placed under a doctor's care. She and her husband had returned from Sebring, Fla., September 20 to the Weylin hotel. Cooper's body was hanging from a rope attached to a steam pipe.

Cooper's recognition as the nation's leading circus fan came from many years' association with the "big top" and from his many writings on the subject. Born in Kansas City, Mo., October 31, 1886, and educated in the public schools there, he ran away at an early age to become a circus clown. Most of Cooper's books and magazine stories concerned two subjects—the circus or crime. Among them were "Memories of Buffalo Bill," with Mrs. Cody; "Circus Day," "Annie Oakley, Woman at Arms."

Russia Knew Of Alliance, Moscow Says

New Phase of War Is Stressed in Pravda Editorial.

By The Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Sept. 30.—(Monday)—The official Soviet news agency Tass, quoting an editorial in the newspaper Pravda today, said that Russia was informed in advance of the triple axis alliance and that it "does not represent anything particularly unexpected for the Soviet Union."

"Proceeding to the question of the meaning of this pact, one should note in the first place that it signifies the advent of a new phase of the war which is more extensive than prior to conclusion of the pact."

Pravda pointed out that Europe-Africa and Far Eastern spheres of war were separated before, but "now an end is being put to this separation because from now on Japan announces the policy of nonintervention in European affairs while Germany and Italy in their turn renounce the policy of nonintervention in Far Eastern affairs."

"This doubtless means further aggravation of the war and expansion of its realm. Premier Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov was right when he said in his speech to the last session of the supreme Soviet that there had arisen the danger of further extension and fanning of the war and its transformation into a world imperialist war."

Secretary of State Cordell Hull's statement (that the pact had been anticipated) and President Roosevelt's conferences with cabinet ministers, military advisers and the British ambassador to Washington, Lord Lothian, all were reported fully—but without editorial observation.

August Unemployment Declines to 7,657,000

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The number of unemployed persons in the United States declined to 7,657,000 in August, compared with 8,279,000 in July, the National Industrial Conference Board estimated today.

The board is a statistical organization supported by contributions from private industrial corporations.

The July-August decline of 622,000, or 7 1/2 per cent, brought the number of jobless to the lowest level since November, 1937, and around 1,181,000 under a year ago.

The aggregate, however, was around 2,500,000 above the post-depression low of 5,066,000 seen in September, 1937.

Wild Riders Through the City Hit Up Against a Stone Wall

Four Negroes—police said they were full of bottled vim, vigor and vitality—yesterday staged a wild ride through midtown traffic, sped through Oakland cemetery at 50 miles an hour, crashed head-on into a three-foot wall, somersaulted over the solid brick barrier and landed 12 feet below on Boulevard, police reported.

The only casualty was one Negro, who received a cut nose. Police said the wild ride followed a minor hit-and-run accident on Mitchell street, when the Negroes' car slightly damaged the fender of a parked car. The driver of the other auto immediately gave chase.

The Negroes drove out Hunter street at a high rate of speed, and, approaching Oakland cemetery, failed to make the elbow

RAF Batters Berlin Power Stations, Coast

Navy On Alert for Surprise Blow During Fair Weather.

By The United Press.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—British naval authorities warned tonight that the "zero hour" of Adolf Hitler's invasion plans may be approaching following shattering new R. A. F. assaults on Berlin, naval bases and a 600-mile stretch of the Nazi-held channel.

(The German capital had a two-hour air alarm last night, Berlin reported. No activity was observed from the central part of the city.)

Late tonight the Nazi "invasion bases" along the Channel coast again were under the blasting attack of British bombers which flew through a heavy rainstorm to strike simultaneously at a dozen or more points.

Watchers on the Dover coast saw bomb flashes all along the French coast and the attack appeared to be particularly heavy around Boulogne.

The Germans may attempt to launch their invasion with a mighty surprise blow "in hopes of catching us somewhat off guard," a naval spokesman said, but the British fleet is "determined not to relax for one moment."

Berlin Raided.

Widespread night bombings of Hitler's coastal "invasion bases," Berlin's vital power stations, Reich railroads and airdromes and Wilhelmshafen naval base were described after the nearest approach to a Sabbath calm that London has known in three weeks.

Naval quarters said that Hitler's vast plans for invasion were proceeding "consistently" under the rain of RAF bombs and that along the Channel with its temporary calm might be the signal for the Nazi attempt.

Nazis Massing Troops.

Night and day, they said, the Germans are massing troops, supplies and ships opposite the British coast and "this is regarded as another reason why invasion is still a possibility."

"There are, as the navy knows, seasonal lulls to come and one of these would normally make it possible for such craft as the Germans have assembled to be used," it was said.

"During the next few weeks for example there should occur a 'second summer' period temporary calm when an attempt could be made."

"If the Germans are hoping that by thus delaying their attempt they are more likely to catch us somewhat off guard they will be severely disappointed for the navy is determined not to relax for an instant."

Berlin Power Bombed.

The air ministry, in an official communique, said that British bombers sweeping 600 miles across the channel and western Germany to Berlin again Saturday night heavily bombed electric power stations and anti-aircraft positions of the German capital and its suburbs.

Wilhelmshafen naval base was "strongly attacked" and great fires and explosions broke out under the smashing of big bombs, it was said.

Two British planes failed to return from the night attacks, it was admitted.

Spain Warns U. S. Aid May Cause War

By The Associated Press.

MADRID, Sept. 29.—The Spanish press, taking for granted that Spain has become a part of the expanding Rome-Berlin axis, renewed its attacks today on the United States.

The newspaper ABC declared that Washington apparently had "missed the significance" of the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance signed last Friday, judging from the Cleveland speech of United States Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles.

(Welles suggested Saturday night that Far Eastern problems still could be settled by conference but said the United States was preparing "for all eventualities" and hinted at an impending extension of Pan-American defense policies.)

ABC warned that the Axis might consider American aid to England and the pact with Canada as a cause for war.

The newspaper Arriba again assailed the United States for its Pan-American policy and told Spain's one-time colonies nobody in Europe is thinking of attacking them.

Price Control Axis, France Recommended To Divide Swiss By Brookings Lands-Moscow

Inflation Not Inevitable If U. S. Goes to War, Study Reveals.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)

A system of price controls and suspension of government restrictions on production and hours of work in wartime was recommended by the Brookings Institution today in a study undertaken at the request of the War Department.

The report proposed that wage rates under wartime economy be raised only "where necessary to insure health and efficiency or when made necessary by the failure of other controls to keep down the cost of living."

The Brookings Institution, a private research organization, financed the study with funds provided by the Falk Foundation of Pittsburgh. It emphasized that although the War Department and the Army and Navy Munitions Board had co-operated with the author, Dr. Charles O. Hardy, neither was responsible for his conclusions.

Dr. Hardy outlined the purpose of the study as an effort to determine whether a price inflation was inevitable if this country should go to war. He concluded that it was not, provided price control machinery was unified and co-ordinated with fiscal and banking policies. A "primary mistake" of the world war, he said, was "the failure to work out a co-ordinating price control machinery with authority extended to all aspects of the problem."

To cope with the price problem during wartime, the study said, emphasis must be placed on the production of goods where restrictive policies have been in effect. Among the restrictions that must be suspended, it added, were those imposed by the agricultural adjustment act's control of farm production, the Walsh-Healey act and the wage-hour law. The Walsh-Healey act specifies wages and hour standards which must be met by firms holding government contracts.

Minimum wages, "designed to protect the incomes of the bottom strata of labor," would not be harmful, the author said, but he added that such measures as compulsory payment of time and a half for overtime should be suspended.

"If labor is to make any economic contribution to the cost of war," he said, "the cost of living (including the workers' burden of direct taxation) must rise more than the wage rates. . . though it need not rise more than total wage income as affected by increased employment."

New Balkan Bloc Also in Making, Soviet Organ Reports.

MOSCOW, Sept. 29.—(UP)—

The official Soviet news agency Tass said today that an "imminent partitioning" of neutral Switzerland may be attempted by Germany, Italy and the French government of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain according to rumors circulating in Bucharest.

At the same time, the Tass dispatch said, the Axis powers may seek to set up a new Balkan bloc strengthening their hold on southeastern Europe, to include Rumania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Italy.

The Soviet press carried extensive reprints of United States newspaper comment stressing closer Anglo-American co-operation.

(Vichy dispatches said that, according to unconfirmed diplomatic reports reaching the Petain government, Russia may either join or formally approve the triple alliance this week simultaneous with the signing of a Russian-Japanese pact of non-aggression.)

GERMAN QUARTERS CALL MOSCOW REPORTS 'ABSURD'

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Authorized German quarters tonight called absurd a rumor that Switzerland was to be partitioned. They described in similar language another report which said a new Balkan bloc was being forced under German sponsorship.

Activities of Societies Are Forbidden in Paris

PARIS, Sept. 22.—(Via Berlin—Delayed)—(AP)—An ordinance by German authorities in Paris has forbidden activities of all societies—marching in parades, wearing uniforms and decking buildings with flags.

Individuals breaking the law may be sentenced up to a year in prison and fined. Organizations guilty of infractions may have their properties confiscated.

Japanese Policemen Beat U. S. Sailor in Shanghai

SHANGHAI (Monday), Sept. 30.—(UP)—It was learned belatedly that Japanese gendarmes on Saturday night seized an intoxicated American sailor, dragged him to a gendarmerie office and beat him before he was released. Navy authorities presently are withholding the man's name and other details.

Army Would Be Destroyed, Rome Asserts

Intervention Would Burst 'Myth of Power,' Says Editor.

By The Associated Press.

ROME, Sept. 29.—Italian commentators warned the United States tonight that a bursting of the "myth of American power" and destruction of her army would result from any United States intervention against the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis plans for world re-arrangement.

That warning appeared in the Popolo D'Italia whose commentator, Mario Appellus, devoted a long article analyzing the dangers faced by America if she tried to break the triple alliance.

The entire Italian press was filled with warnings to America not to turn the Axis "peace pact" into a war pact. There were also simultaneous appeals to America's "sense of responsibility" to abandon Britain to her fate.

Gibraltar For Spain.

Restoration of Gibraltar to Spain is the Axis' plan for the rearrangement of Europe and Africa, the authoritative Fascist editorial spokesman, Virginio Gayda, flatly declared.

"New talks" in Berlin prove that Spain figures in the "immediate scheme of things," said Gayda, who specifically indicated for the first time that Spain, which heretofore has been regarded as only a sympathetic friend like Japan, is now to be considered an active partner in the world-girdling Axis lineup.

Silent on War Entry.

He avoided saying in so many words, however, that Spain will enter the war.

The flat declaration that Spain is to be rewarded by acquisition of the "Rock" which Britain has held for 236 years as a symbol of her empire strength, was made by Gayda as Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano started home after conferences in Berlin with Adolf Hitler and Generalissimo Franco's No. 1 aide, Ramon Serrano Suner.

Worry Over U. S. Russia.

The apparent "clarification" of Spain's role in the war by the Berlin conferences left the Axis two big countries to worry about—the United States and Russia.

"Naturally our attention is fastened on reports from the two great powers outside the conflict, America and Russia," said Giovanni Ansaldo, editor of Count Ciano's Leghorn daily, Il Telegrafo, in a dispatch from Berlin.

Ansaldo took the view there was no reason for a break between Russia and Japan, nor a lessening of friendly relations with Germany and Italy as a result of the new tri-power military accord.

Gayda declared that the United States "cannot neglect its immense fortune, menaced by nobody, which it would put at stake if it allowed itself to be engulfed in an adventure which already has massacred all England's accomplices, great and small."

Threatening Note A Childish Prank

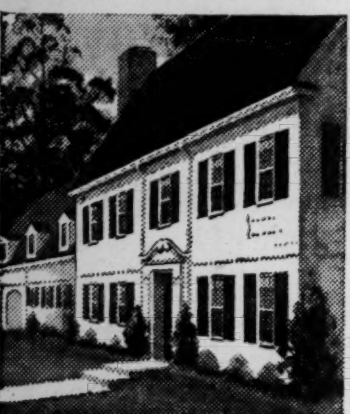

If you live out in the Peachtree section, in the vicinity of Collier road, and happened to receive a threatening note demanding $200, don't be worried. You were but one among many.

The "extortioners" were children of the neighborhood, who distributed some dozen messages of this sort:

"We know you and know everything. If you don't pay your corpse will be found in the river." Some residents of the neighborhood thought it anything but humorous and summoned Fulton county police. Lieutenant Cal Cates trailed the culprits, gave them an official lecture and returned them to their parents.

Japanese in Indo-China
Tear Down U. S. Flag
HANOI, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Japanese soldiers reportedly tore down an American flag and occupied a warehouse of the Far Eastern Trading Company, an American concern which shipped American goods to Chungking prior to closure of the Chinese frontier, today. It was understood, however, the incident was settled on the spot within a few hours when the Japanese withdrew.

WHITE HOUSES STAY WHITER

Painters, home owners praise this new Du Pont House Paint

It's brilliantly white... tough... durable! Du Pont House Paint keeps houses beautiful because it stays cleaner! Here's why:—

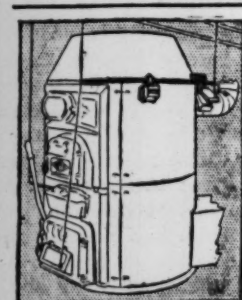

Du Pont Prepared Paint forms a tough, durable film which protects the surface from rust, rot or decay. Like all paints, it collects dirt on exposure to the elements. As time goes on, however, a fine white powder forms on the surface of this new paint. This powder is washed away by heavy rains, carrying the dirt with it, and exposing a fresh white surface. This "self-cleaning" process starts after a few months of exposure under normal conditions of weather, but may be delayed under unusual climatic or dirt-collecting conditions. Because the "self-cleaning" process is gradual, the wearing qualities of the film are not abnormally affected.

Its economy lies in the fact that it stretches the time between paintings. Remember: Du Pont House Paint costs no more than other good paints. Ask your painting contractor to use it!

Wilkes Church Will Celebrate 150th Birthday

Presbyterians of Georgia To Meet in Washington Next Month.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.
WASHINGTON, Ga., Sept. 29. Presbyterians from far and wide will gather here October 8-10 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the Washington Presbyterian church. The Presbyterian Synod of Georgia selected Washington as its meeting place this year in order to co-operate.

For several years Dr. A. W. Simpson, Colonel W. A. Slaton, and the Rev. Stewart Long have been collecting historical material for this event. The occasion also marks the anniversary of the ordination of the Rev. John Springer, first pastor of Washington's church and first Presbyterian minister ordained on Georgia soil. A group of Presbyterian ministers will re-enact the ordination under a large poplar tree on the Alexander place in the spot where it took place 150 years ago.

Dr. Springer was a teacher as well as minister, and had as one of his pupils Jesse Mercer, founder of Mercer University. Another minister who served in the early years of the Washington church was Alexander H. Webster, a New Englander, who had great influence over young Alex Stephens, who added the "H" in his own name to show the admiration in which he held his teacher.

The two grandfathers of the first Mrs. Woodrow Wilson served as pastors here; the Rev. Nathan Hoyt, 1828-1830, and the Rev. I. S. K. Axson, 1854-1855. Woodrow Wilson's father frequently preached here during his pastorate in Augusta, and brought his young son with him.

Three former ministers of the church will be in Washington for the celebration. They are: the Rev. E. G. Hartman, of Staunton, Va., the Rev. W. S. Porter, of Kershaw, S. C., and the Rev. A. G. McInnis, of Faycross.

Hungarian Nazi Parties Merge Into One Group

More Strength and Influence Seen; 'Little Hitler' Is Freed.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Sept. 29. (AP)—A merger of the Magyar National Socialist party and the Arrow Cross party, largest of Hungary's Nazi groups, was announced today.

The merger placed virtually all Hungarian Nazis in one party, since several other small groups were united some weeks ago with the Magyar National Socialists. The merger, together with a more lenient government attitude toward the Nazi groups, was expected to lead to an immediate increase in their strength and influence.

Evidence of the government's changed attitude toward Nazi groups since the recent Vienna conference—at which Germany and Italy sliced off a large section of Transylvania from Rumania and gave it to Hungary—was seen in the release from prison on September 18 of Ferenc Szalasi, Hungary's "Little Hitler," under a general amnesty to political offenders.

HIGHER THAN NIAGARA—A mighty torrent of water, 30,000,000 gallons a minute, was released from Boulder dam Saturday in a test to make sure the 12 outlet valves would function in an emergency. The water cascaded in a huge arc 183 feet to the Colorado river below, creating a twin falls 13 feet higher than Niagara. Such a mist was caused, motorists in the area were forced to use windshield wipers.

Metallic Hip Given Man by Surgeons

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Two surgeons removed the entire hip joint and upper part of the thigh from a 224-pound negro here and replaced the bone with a metallic hip.

It took the surgeons three hours to perform the unusual operation. The operation was performed yesterday. Today the patient's condition was described as "satisfactory."

The metallic hip-joint was made of titanium, an alloy of cobalt chromium and another metal. It was fashioned by hand by one of the surgeons who operated—a member of the faculty at Johns Hopkins, Baltimore.

Hershey has been executive officer at selective service headquarters. The order permits him to issue public notices and instructions, allocate funds, appoint certain subordinates and take other steps necessary to proceed with the conscription program.

Willkie Starts New Round of Election Talks

Republican Candidate To Invade Eastern Industrial Areas.

ABOARD WILLKIE TRAIN EN ROUTE TO DETROIT, Sept. 29. (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie started today a new seven-state campaign tour through the central and eastern industrial areas.

Having traveled more than 7,000 miles through the middle and far west, the Republican presidential nominee left for Indiana and Michigan. Then he will visit Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut.

Willkie spent today conferring with Republican leaders on campaign strategy. He talked during the morning with Al Smith Jr., who heads the newly-formed organization, "Business Men's Democratic Committee for Willkie."

At luncheon, the candidate talked with Chairman Joseph W. Martin, of the Republican national committee, Representative Richard B. Wigglesworth, Republican, Massachusetts, and John Hollister, of Cincinnati, one of his advisers. He had two telephone conversations with Representative Bruce Barton, Republican, New York, newly designated Republican candidate for senator.

Workers Complain Firms Close During Air Raids

LONDON, Sept. 29.—(AP) The Sunday Dispatch charged today Britain's aircraft production was being hampered by the refusal of firms to permit their employees to work during the air raids, and demanded that the government take over control of these factories if there is no way of improving production.

The newspaper, under the headline "The Great Aircraft Scandal," published a full page of letters from workers who in some cases blamed the management for night-long stoppages.

Republicans Withdraw From Race in Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Sept. 29. (AP)—Republican nominees for three major offices in Florida have signed affidavits of withdrawal, apparently leaving a clear field for Democratic nominees in the November general election. The affidavits carried the names of Miles H. Draper, of Tampa, nominee for United States senator; John F. Walter, of Daytona Beach, for Governor, and Harry Schadd, of Gainesville, for attorney general.

Man Confesses Killing Woman In Farm House

Another Held in Death of Philadelphia Woman.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Police announced today that a 24-year-old waiter had confessed to the slaying of Mrs. Ethel Craft Atkins, 37, former wife of a relative of the wealthy Duke tobacco family, whose partially-clad and battered body was found in a vacant Horsham farmhouse last Tuesday.

According to Philadelphia Police Captain William Engle, William J. Earnest, a waiter in a city diner, signed a confession admitting the crime.

Engle said, however, that no formal murder charge had been made against Earnest, but that both he and a companion, who authorities said accompanied him to the scene of the slaying, were being held for Montgomery county authorities.

Richard Brady, 24, also of Philadelphia, was named as Earnest's companion.

Police quoted Earnest as saying that he and Brady met Mrs. Atkins in a taproom Tuesday morning. Her second husband, James F. Atkins, had not seen her since the preceding Saturday.

Way Cleared For Action On Profits Tax Bill

Legislation Is Designed To Add Billion to Income.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP) A senate-house committee reached an agreement today on an excess profits tax bill, clearing the way for early final congressional action on this measure.

The legislation, asked by the administration to guard against anyone's making huge profits from the national rearmament effort, would impose a 25 to 50 per cent levy on corporation profits in excess of normal, and would also increase the normal corporation income tax from 20.9 to 24 per cent. Both taxes would apply to 1940 income.

Estimated by committee members to yield nearly $1,000,000,000 a year, the legislation includes special concessions for defense contractors and would suspend existing 3 and 7 per cent limitations on profits from warships and military aircraft.

It also would set up a government insurance system for members of the army and navy, including draftees and National Guardsmen. This would permit them to buy policies with a face value of up to $10,000 at a rate of about 66 cents a month per thousand.

The corporation income tax increase applies only to companies earning more than $25,000. Corporations whose earnings are below the figure now are accorded a special rate schedule which the bill leaves unchanged.

Arrest of Five Britons By Rumanians Hit

He called for an explanation of the recent arrest of five British subjects.

Hindsight and Foresight

Putting Men and Dollars to Work

BY HOLGAR J. JOHNSON
President Institute of Life Insurance

"WHEN dollars work, men work"—that is the simplest way I know to describe a cure for unemployment.

Life insurance policyholders, like everyone else, have a definite interest in increased employment. They also have a special reason for wanting to see capital employed.

For they—the 64 million of them—are among the most important capitalists in the country. In America it is the average man who owns the capital wealth of the nation—the 64 million life insurance policyholders, the depositors who own 45 million savings accounts, and the vast numbers who have small investments or any kind of property that brings in money. The so-called "little fellows," taken together, own so much more capital than the "big fellows" that there isn't any comparison.

When business activity rises, industry not only needs more capital, but it can afford to pay more for the use of capital—such as bank deposits and life insurance reserves. This raises the average interest rate on investments.

Just how important this rate is to our policyholders is indicated by the fact that most of the insurance companies averaged about 5% on their investments in the early "thirties," whereas nowadays they can only earn about 3½%. The difference means an added cost to policyholders for their life insurance protection amounting to about 400 million dollars a year.

WHY I bring this up is to suggest that we recognize the need for fostering conditions that increase business activity in every possible way and support such measures as will increase the flow of capital, owned by millions of Americans, into industry. For nothing will do more to increase employment, lower the cost of protection and put a premium on thrift—and thus improve the general welfare of the country.

This regular Monday column is provided by the Institute of Life Insurance to permit its President to speak to America's policy owners. Address inquiries to 60 East 42nd Street, New York City.

U. S. Aircraft Shipments To England Set Record

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Aircraft shipments reached a new high in August and helped boost exports to the United Kingdom for the month to $125,309,000. This was the largest monthly figure since November, 1924.

The commerce department, reporting today on August sales abroad, said that the plane exports totaled $30,000,000 and that exports to Britain were $17,000,000 above the July total.

The United States' total export trade during August was $349,928,000, compared with $317,000,000 in the preceding month. Imports amounted to $220,000,000, a decline of $12,000,000 from July.

Young Girl, 17, Critically Shot, Hides 21 Hours

High School Student Refused Permission To Become Dancer.

MALONE, N. Y., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Seventeen-year-old Gertrude Smallman was in critical condition today after hiding behind a hundreds of motorists for 21 hours with a bullet wound in her chest. The pretty Malone high school sophomore left home Friday night, her mother, Mrs. Kathryn Smallman said, when she was refused permission to leave school and become a dancer.

State police searched for the girl but she did not call for aid until late last night when she recognized a friend, Willard (Jumbo) Whitney pedaling his bicycle past her hiding place off the highway a mile from her home.

"Hey, Jumbo," the girl cried. "I'm hurt. Will you get my brother for me?"

The brother, Walter Smallman, took his sister to the hospital where a 25-caliber bullet had penetrated nearly to her spine. Police found an automatic revolver near the boulder.

Women's Group Selects Gainesville for Parley

MACON, Ga., Sept. 29.—(AP)—The 1941 state convention of Georgia Business and Professional Women's Clubs will be held May 16-18 in Gainesville, the board of directors decided at a meeting here last night.

The session was the first of a two-day conference that brought state officers, club presidents and committee chairmen of Macon clubs together today.

Train of Tank Cars For Nazis Is Derailed

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A train made up mostly of tank cars, en route from Rumania to Germany, was derailed during the night between Zagreb and Lubljana in what was believed to be an act of sabotage.

The tracks were damaged so severely that traffic was held up all day. Yugoslav newspapers were forbidden by censors to publish the news.

7 Per Cent Rise Is Seen In Freight Car Loadings

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The Association of American Railroads reported today that freight car loadings in the fourth quarter of 1940 were expected to be 7 per cent above actual loadings in the same quarter of 1939.

Shippers advisory boards estimated, the association said, that loadings of the 29 principal commodities would total 6,511,835 cars in the next three months compared with 6,084,567 in the like period last year.

Empire War Cabinet Sought By Australians

Country Party Leader Wants Dominions Represented Directly.

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The Dakar incident and the new Italian-German-Japanese pact have resulted in a growing demand here for formation of an Empire war cabinet, in which the British dominions would be represented directly.

Although the government of Premier Robert G. Menzies, who has been consistent in support of British war policy, has remained silent on the question, A. G. Cameron, leader of the Country party, publicly suggested formation of an Empire war cabinet, asserting: "We were driven to that in the last war and it looks as if we'll be driven to it in this war."

Several Labor spokesmen also urged an Empire cabinet. William McKell, a Labor leader in parliament from New South Wales, declared:

"It is our duty to see that Australian soldiers are not used in half-hearted ventures or to face enemies strengthened by blunders and muddled or vague policies. Australia must have a say in the war which it cannot do by cable or telephone. Silence on certain aspects of the war is no longer in the national interest."

Ex-German High Official, Born in Brooklyn, Dies

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(AP)—News was received today of the death of Dr. Frederick Hagedorn, 65, Brooklyn-born former secretary of state for agriculture in the pre-Hitler German republic.

He went to Germany at the age of 10, received his doctorate from the University of Berlin and became a naturalized German. He came to the United States in 1925 on an official mission to study farm conditions.

He was a son of the late Hermann A. C. Hagedorn, a founder of the New York Cotton Exchange. Among his survivors are a son, Jurgen, an officer in the German army, and a brother, Herman, of New York.

Brazil and Argentina Will Hold Trade Parley

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Brazil and Argentina laid the groundwork today for a trade conference starting October 3 in which the two nations are expected to fall in step with the United States' plan for closer western hemisphere co-operation. Informed sources here said the conference would try to arrange for the exchange of surpluses on a barter basis.

These sources declared that a temporary abandonment of free trade principles would not be regarded as significant at this time because of the European war.

Survivors of Liner Land at British Port

A NORTHERN BRITISH PORT, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Survivors of the 5,802-ton Donaldson liner Sulairia, torpedoed by a German submarine last Wednesday, were landed here today. One member of the crew, J. Curran, of Sligo, Ireland, was killed outright.

The others were picked up by a British warship after drifting 24 hours. The loss of the liner, which traded between Scotland and Canada before the war, was announced in New York last Wednesday by Mackay Radio.

Nazis Pierce Wall of Fire Around London

Bombs Shake Buildings; Guns Roar Heaviest Barrage So Far.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—(Monday)—German warplanes pierced a curtain of terrific antiaircraft fire early today and bombed the heart of London. Heavy demolition bombs shook buildings and incendiary bombs rained down to add to the destruction.

The start of the 23rd successive night air raids followed a thinned-out daylight offensive of mere hit-and-run stabs by lone raiders—a change in tactics after Friday's massed assaults which some military observers said would have heralded a weekend invasion had the Nazis succeeded in beating down the Royal Air Force.

Heaviest Aircraft Fire. Despite the heaviness of the barrage in the London area, however, the number of bombs dropped in the metropolitan zone appeared to be no greater than on previous nights, if as great. Rooftop observers considered the fire, which literally rocked buildings in central London for several minutes, as the heaviest yet in more than three weeks of air siege.

Guns blazed particularly against two raiders high in the sky. Roofs for hundreds of yards around the Associated Press observation post rang with the sharp clatter of glowing red-hot fragments of antiaircraft shells.

As usual, the night sky was lit with the flashes of the guns and bombs which seemed to drop considerable distances in the suburbs.

The heaviest action again appeared to be over the western outskirts although a considerable time elapsed after the start of the raid before there were signs of German activity over the northwestern suburb which generally gets the first visit.

Minor Effects. Although yesterday's attacks were widespread, their effect was reported to be minor. Two fresh attempts apparently were made to reach London, one in the morning and one in the evening. But there was no sign of activity noticeable during either attempt.

The raids were confined to the activities of lone planes over southeast and southwest towns. Londoners went quietly into shelters on schedule to await the nightly German effort.

Seven German bombers were reported officially to have been destroyed yesterday.

Only 4th of Grads Sure Of What They Should Do

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A survey which showed that only about one in every four of the 1,750,000 students who leave schools and colleges each year has any clear idea of the kind of job he should seek was made public today by the American Youth Commission.

The report recommended that schools provide "realistic vocational guidance, appropriate vocational preparation and eventual job placement."

ATLANTA, GA., SEPTEMBER 30, 1940.

From the Ashes

It may seem too early to be considering the rebuilding problem which will face London when Nazi bombers are, finally, powerless to hurt the great city more. Nevertheless that rebuilding will have to be done and already observers and leaders are thinking of tentative plans.

That the city can and will rebuild itself into a greater and a better place than before the war, need never be doubted. The spirit that is standing so cheerfully firm against the death that descends by night—night after night—is itself sufficient assurance that, from the ruins and the ashes will arise something superlatively fine.

We of Atlanta, particularly, need have no doubt. In 1864 a man named Sherman left what was then Atlanta in smoking ruins. Yet, only five years later, a new city with more than double its wartime population had been recreated from the ashes and today the burning of Atlanta is but an item in history books or the material for novels or screen plays.

True, it was only a city of 10,000 people that Sherman destroyed. But, if London is so immeasurably greater in area, so are her people greater in number. For the greater task there will be more willing hands.

Despite the human tragedies now occurring daily in London, in one respect the Nazi bombings may, in the long view, prove a blessing. They have already leveled many blocks of squalid slums, doing the task which, sooner or later, would have been a necessary job for the housewrecker. On those now devastated sites may rise rehousing projects which will prove examples of perfection for the world.

Bombs have fallen on many precious edifices. The British Museum and the Tate Gallery have been damaged. There have been tremors among those who know, all over the world, the treasures these edifices normally house. Yet, in every probability, those tremors were unnecessary. There can be no doubt that most, if not all, of these things of value beyond computation, were moved to hiding places of safety long before the first bomb fell on London.

In 1666 there came, to London, the great fire, undoubtedly considered at the time as a fearful tragedy and, perhaps, the end of the city. Yet it was not many years until it was realized that, in the larger sense, that fire was a blessing. For it destroyed houses so filthy, streets so narrow and sanitary conditions so awful that the older city had been almost constantly ravaged by disease and the plague. The great fire created the necessity of rebuilding in a better and more healthful manner.

Never doubt, London will survive the worst that Nazism can do and the new London that will arise from the ashes will be a greater and a finer and a more beautiful metropolis than the old.

On the Other Foot

The Nazi plot to seize Uruguay is all a huge "joke," according to the news columns, which quote the eminent authority who conceived the whole idea, Adolfo Fuhrmann. It may also be that this explanation is also a huge lie.

The evidence alone proves it is a lie, but even without the actual physical possession of that evidence, the history of Nazi activities in South America is sufficient to confound such an idiotic denial (Nazi philosophy expounds the thesis that even the most astounding untruth, if adequately exploited, will gain common acceptance as truth).

Not only has the plot been discovered in Uruguay, but there has been sufficient parallel activity revealed by investigations of Argentine federal police near the borders of Uruguay to establish the truth independently. This Argentine investigation has involved some members of the crew of the scuttled Graf Spee given sanctuary by that government after the Rio Plate fiasco. Thus has the Nazi sense of honor been demonstrated.

Only the utmost vigilance and the greatest co-operation can guarantee the safety of the Latin-American republics. Insofar as this country is concerned, the machinery for that co-operation has been established. It requires the strengthening of the economic systems of the nations, even at great cost to this country, and the full maintenance of the governmental status quo in each country, no matter what the shading of its political hue.

The great joke in Uruguay is on the other foot, for it was only a few months ago that Germans in that country were telling the citizens they had better learn German; that within months they would be less than dogs under German heels, and that normal trade relations and deliveries of German goods would be resumed in September. But that does not mean vigilance can in any way be relaxed. The plot thus far revealed has not involved the chief culprit, the German government itself.

Tragic France

In the miserable collapse of once-proud France, tragedy piles upon tragedy. What indescribable woes the slaves within the conquered portion of that country must now suffer we can only guess, for the depravity of their conquerors is too well known for our rehearsing, and the blight of Nazi air-light censorship has settled upon that wasteland. The total absence of news from Nazi-held France is in itself appalling, for the horrors of the French must be too fantastic for public knowledge.

That the puppet government of Vichy acts only with immediate consent of its German manipulators no sensible man doubts. Its helplessness to prevent the removal of food stuffs, clothing supplies, and all the other comforts and necessities of life from France into Germany is highly deplorable, but under the circumstances, unavoidable.

And now, despite the fact that France's only hope of salvation lies in the victory of British arms, she is forced to repel every effort of Britain to use what is left of French might. The French people must wish with all their hearts that their African empire might join Britain in destroying Mussolini's attack upon the British lifeline, yet under government orders the defenders of Dakar and of French Morocco fire back upon General De Gaulle and his free Frenchmen, and the airplanes of France bomb Gibraltar.

There are, no doubt, some Frenchmen who would like nothing better than to see Britain destroyed as France was destroyed. There is no greater hate than that of brother for brother, and the withdrawal of the British from Dunkerque, however heartening to England, made many Frenchmen see red. It is upon this small and short-sighted element that Nazi propaganda wreaks its havoc. Through their viciousness the puppets of Vichy are encouraged to assault their only ally and their only hope of ultimate victory.

Now comes word from France that there is even possibility of a declaration of war upon England. Whether this be German propaganda or warnings of how far German depravity may go we can but conjecture, for only the boldest would dare predict the depths of German immorality. But it is by no means impossible that the Nazis might maneuver France into such a declaration, thus draining the last ounce of French strength to protect themselves.

Some day we shall all know the story of France's woes, but now we can but lament her tragic plight and hope that the rats which gnaw at her bosom may speedily be put to their just end.

Editorial Digest

CAMPAIGNING.

"Two of New York's leading newspapers, the Times and the Herald Tribune, are supporting Wendell Willkie, and their foreign policy is interventionist—indicating that they have more confidence in the interventionist fervor of Mr. Willkie than in that of Mr. Roosevelt," says the NEW YORK DAILY NEWS, adding, "The Herald Tribune has always been Republican, but the Times has been generally Democratic; and we think it's being pretty ungrateful to Mr. Roosevelt, all things considered."

The WASHINGTON POST believes "the New York Times' endorsement of Mr. Willkie gives the Republican candidate a significant boost," and the NEW YORK SUN sees the Times' support as "particularly powerful because of its source."

As the CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER came out for the Republican candidate after having refrained "for close to 100 years . . . from supporting for president any other than Democratic candidates" and the MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL takes "its stand against a third term," the MILWAUKEE POST believes the campaign "has now progressed far enough for any newspaper or any citizen to state its or his choice. A feeling prevails that the choice in the main has already been made, that the President will be overwhelmingly endorsed for another term of office. With that result the Post is thoroughly in accord."

In the EMPORIA GAZETTE, W. A. W. explains his own reactions to the Republican candidate: "An intensely human person is this man Willkie. It is that common touch with common men and women which gives him a strength much like that of Theodore Roosevelt and Abraham Lincoln. . . . Wendell Willkie may or may not be our next President, but he will be a great leader so long as he lives."

Meanwhile, the FLORIDA TIMES-UNION of Jacksonville takes figures from the EDITOR & PUBLISHER in which 1,888 daily newspapers were polled: "Tabulation of the responses of 54.5 per cent of the entire daily newspaper press shows that in 1932 Mr. Roosevelt was supported by 38.7 per cent, Mr. Hoover by 55.5 per cent, and 5.7 per cent of the papers were neutral. By 1936 the figures had changed to 34.5 per cent for Roosevelt, 60.4 per cent for Landon, with 5 per cent neutral. Now (in 1940) the percentages are: Roosevelt 20.1; Willkie 66.3; neutral 13.5." The TIMES-UNION comments: "While these returns correct the impression the friends of the President tried to put over to the American people in 1932 and 1936, they also now correct claims (which have) been made by friends of Mr. Willkie that have given him as high as 90 per cent of the daily newspapers' support."

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

WE BET ON JAPAN'S WEAKNESS WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Since no one imagines the President is ready to lead this country into an immediate war with Japan, the new $25,000,000 loan to China and the embargo on Japanese purchases of American scrap iron at first seem to be mysterious and startling moves. Both are intensely offensive to Tokyo.

The Italo-German-Japanese alliance, which of course had been previously negotiated, was announced immediately, and now there is talk of Japanese reprisals against the United States, possibly in the form of closing off our vital supplies of rubber and tin. Moreover, the proclamation of the embargo is known to have been the subject of really sharp controversy within the State Department. There are reports that the chief of the department's division of Far Eastern affairs and the Far Eastern adviser, Maxwell Hamilton and Secretary Hoagland, were the subjects of the embargo. But it is stated on the most reliable authority that the controversy also involved two far more influential personages, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who advocated prompt action, and Undersecretary Sumner Welles, who wished to sit tight.

CORDELL HULL'S VIEW In fact, the United States' Far Eastern policy seems pretty confused, unless it is viewed in the light of a bet very heavily bet on the accuracy of the estimate of the situation shared by Secretary Hull and the other activists. This estimate is that Japan has become so deeply mired in her Chinese adventure that she is reaching the point of exhaustion. The evidence offered in support of it is various. There have been large withdrawals of Japanese forces from North China, where there is a fair prospect of a successful Chinese counter-offensive. The Japanese gold reserve is reaching the vanishing point, and her sources of war supplies have been sharply curtailed both by her poverty and by the war in Europe. The Japanese attack on Indo-China, so far, has been rather weak, whereas such a major operation would normally have been carried out on a big scale.

Thus Japan is thought incapable of taking the offensive in other areas, such as the Netherlands East Indies, and therefore of making reprisals for the punishment she has just received from this country. The punishment, meanwhile, is expected to weaken the Japanese still further. Deprived of American scrap iron, with few other available sources of this vital war material, Japan may, it is hoped, eventually find herself unable to continue her war effort.

Apparently the American activists have succeeded in converting the British government to their view. It is now stated with the greatest positiveness that the British have given in to the American pleas to open the Burma road. The road—the one avenue over which war supplies can be carried into the beleaguered Chinese except through the Soviet Union—is supposed to be opened next month. Thereafter it is not unlikely, if the administration is re-elected in November, that the United States will offer Australia the same kind of guarantee against attack now in force for China.

ENTER MR. OUMANSKY Within the administration, at least, it must be remembered that the difference on Far Eastern policy is simply between those who want prompt, strong action, and those who want to do the same thing more slowly and cautiously. Appeasement of Japan, such as is advocated by former Undersecretary of State William R. Castle, finds little support. And on the whole, those who wish to go slow are animated by the hope that if this country only waits long enough, the Soviet Union can be induced to act against the Japanese jointly with us.

This hope seems to have been given a rather severe set-back by the recent conversations between Secretary Hull and other State Department officials and the Soviet ambassador, Constantine Oumansky. It is understood that the real objective of these rather frequent talks was to test out Russia's readiness for the kind of joint action envisioned by spokesmen for the policy of going slow.

No one seems to know whether the conversations have been finally broken off, but it is clear they have not been much of anywhere. Oumansky took the position that before views could even be exchanged on Far Eastern questions, the United States would have to offer a number of concessions to the Soviets. His little bill included more than a dozen points, relating to everything from changes in the treatment of Soviet "tourists" to changes in American gold policy. The bill could not, of course, be paid. And it seems probable that while the Indo-China incident played the large part in precipitating the American moves against Japan, Oumansky's behavior also had defining influence. The results of the moves will depend on the wisdom of the activists' bet on Japanese weakness.

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES

Interesting Experience.

It was my good fortune to be chosen as the speaker, for last Saturday morning, at the weekly forum meeting held in the United States penitentiary. The room where the meeting is held is in that department devoted to education, with classrooms and all sorts of accessories whereby a man, with time to spend, can become Uncle Sam, may prepare himself to be better equipped for life when his period of guestship is at an end.

Prior to the meeting hour Dr. Kissinger, who had invited me, took me to meet Warden Sanford. He happened, at the time, to be a number of wardens and deputy wardens from other prisons, in his office and, honestly, fellows, not a one of them looked like a tough guy!

I had gone to the prison with a tremor or two. Because I knew, from reading the monthly prison house organ, "The Atlantic," that a lot of the fellows, who'd be listening to me would be much smarter than I am. And there was a period for questions from the audience, at the close, that sounded particularly portentous.

We Got Along Well.

However, I think the audience and I got along right well together. They were as attentive as any audience I ever faced. It seemed to me a little more difficult to get on my feet, or to get out of them than with most, but when they did warm up they were generous. And you had only to look into their faces to know they were following your every remark with intelligent scrutiny, agreeing with some and rather questioning others. Which is just about the kind of audience a speaker likes.

When it came to the question period, they had me on the spot. They shot their questions from right and left and in front. They came fast, one right after the other, and several times I had to resort to generalities. Some of those boys could give me cards and spades in general information and in the use of logic.

Of course, it was fun. Give and take dialogue with a bunch of guys who use their heads for something more than hatracks always is. Enjoyed it a lot. Thanks, Dr. Kissinger and the boys. I'll be seen' you.

do a good job. It is the kind of a game that calls for that interest and enthusiasm which results in the individual's best effort toward that desirable goal.

If we get a little deeper into this newspaper business, the subject always gets around to that guaranteed American right, the freedom of the press.

Somehow I've met quite a few people who seemed to think freedom of the press was a prerogative enjoyed only by editors and publishers. Which, of course, is a totally false idea. Freedom of the press is a precious thing that belongs to all the people—editors of newspapers and magazines, publishers of books, are only the front line scouts who try to keep inviolate a right which intrinsically belongs to all the people.

Many Reasons

For Appreciation. After all, I suppose that the general public has quite a few grounds for appreciation of the community service rendered by an alert, well-conducted, good newspaper.

It is at least a semi-public utility, something which modern man cannot do without. It is charged with heavy responsibilities on which it often fails, but not for want of trying.

It does its best, at all times, to provide daily editions which contain the most important history of each passing day and to give its readers what they best like to read. If it pleases a fair percentage of its readers every day, it has done all that can be asked.

In the truest sense a newspaper is a public servant and, therefore, it is quite right to set aside this week for the honoring of a "thank you" from the communities and readers served.

Beer Beats Sprinter

Too much confidence in his beer-imbibing ability lost a race and a bet for a Melbourne, Australia, barber. He wagered a butcher that he could race him half a mile with the handicap of having to drink a glass of beer, to be handed to him by the butcher, at the word "go." The butcher, fat and slow, accepted the challenge. He duly handed the glass of beer to the barber, but was holding hot. By the time the barber could start drinking, the butcher was winner.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The Little People Speak NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—All told I have received, I suppose, a thousand letters from individual little people who have been kicked around, deprived of their right to work, robbed and cheated by labor unions under the authority and protection of President Roosevelt's labor policy. These people are unorganized, afraid and in many cases, desperate, and it seems very unlikely that they will vote for Mr. Roosevelt in November, although as yet Mr. Willkie has offered them no reason to hope that he will give them any relief. Mr. Willkie is on a spot, because if he should blast the crooks and dictators of the union movement and promise to break their brutal power over the little people every labor faker in the country would immediately damn him as an enemy of labor with a capital L.

The citizens who are individual victims of the labor skates can only hope that Mr. Willkie has some mental reservations and intends, if elected, to proceed against the thieves and fakers. That seems to be their only hope, because Mr. Roosevelt is playing ball with the boss unionists.

Aside from one very coy reference to the rare, occasional scoundrel in union leadership the President has never mentioned this oppression of American citizens by unofficial but harsh and arrogant dictators, many of them crooks of the meanest sort. It may be observed that even that mild condemnation was not gratuitous. It was wrong out of him. The disclosures which have been made in the last year—with no help incidentally, from his no help incidentally, from his Muscovite Labor Relations Board—finally became so scandalous and the facts were so authentic that Mr. Roosevelt had to take some notice of them. That is Mr. Roosevelt's way. He took no action to compel state, county and municipal employees to pay federal income taxes until their outrageous exemption had been shown up in print for about a year, and he was dead sure that the people who would personally resent a change were vastly outnumbered by those who would approve it.

Resents Leadership

I am an utter novice in politics, but in my dumb, instinctive way I figure that the big national bosses of various unions are merely routing when they assure Mr. Roosevelt that "the labor vote" will support him. I just don't believe they can speak for their members, many of whom, I am certain, fiercely resent their pretensions to leadership. During the last years incalculable numbers of little people have been driven into unions against their will, harassed and persecuted, and without gaining a dollar beyond the amount which was promptly snatched back by the thieves representing the unions.

Tax Them To Death

If you are a worker earning so little money that the Internal Revenue doesn't even ask you to file an income tax return, and some union makes you pay $25 cash, to join and from $2 to $10 a month in dues and buy $2 worth of tickets every three months, you are not going to cheer for unionism. You are going to be sore, and the little money is going to figure that money in terms of milk and food and clothing which the children deserved but didn't get.

I don't want to hear anything about the rarity of the union scoundrel. I know better. The thief and extortioner is more common than rare, but that question aside, the damned spot that will not quit is the fact that none of the high unionists, from Will Green on down through his executive council, has made a concerted move to kick out the crooks or relieve the oppression of the little people by the union politicians.

In fact, they have a gang man in the executive council itself, the same being George Browne, and nobody in the American Federation of Labor has the character, honesty or courage to look him in the eye and tell him to get the hell out.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL

MEN BEGAN TO ASK All day yesterday I was on a train returning from Kansas City. In the Pullmans and in the club car men with worried faces would look up from the pages of the Sunday newspapers and ask, "What does it mean?"

The black headlines said that Japan had warned us any interference on our part would be an act of war and that Japan, Germany, Italy and presumably Russia would act against us. I watched men's faces. The Negro porter finished his work before noon and picked up a paper. He read it and looked over to say "Bad, bad!" He shook his head.

It is bad. I remember writing from Austria in the spring of 1938, where I had seen the Germans take over, that if Germany went on and conquered Czechoslovakia it eventually would mean us in the United States. Then I thought the Czechs would fight. Then I felt sure that fine army of more than a million men, well equipped, well-trained, would resist and that England and France would march with them. The Czechs would have fought. How well no one may be sure. There were traitors in Czechoslovakia. But there were in Czechoslovakia some of the greatest gun factories in the world and great materials of war. And a spirit.

There is no use crying over spilled milk. It is spilled. But there might have been a chance for France and England to have got squared away had there been resistance in Czechoslovakia. Now the milk is spilled. Men look up from the news of the war and know it has moved closer to us.

Almost any time now we may expect some incident which will bring the issue squarely before us, to back down before Japan or to resist.

All of us feel that. All of us can hear the brazen hoofs of the unbridled horses loosed in our skies, trampling down the ends of the skies and weighing on men's hearts.

A SHOCKING CONDITION

Things have happened so swiftly in the world it is difficult to comprehend them.

A short year ago England was England and the British Empire was the great force in the world. France was believed to have the finest army in the world and dreamed of safety behind her invulnerable Maginot line, built with five hundred millions of dollars. Scandinavia was a progressive, happy section.

Today all Scandinavia is gone, Denmark and Norway actually and Finland and Sweden also, even though they be not occupied. Today Holland and Belgium are gone. I remember, thinking back to those days when the Germans had struck at Holland, hearing a Belgian announcer give thanks that his king and government had built a great army and forts to protect them. Many, many ideals, things, persons and nations which men believed in are gone.

France is gone. The British Empire remains, but it is at bay and the odds heavily against it. It fumbles at Dakar. It fights on and on from its islands, but it becomes more and more apparent the real fight must be made from the dominions.

The erstwhile "have-not" nations have joined and pooled assets and hates. The once bad dream of a threat from the Pacific and the Atlantic has come true. Arrogant and insolent and strong, the United States now is threatened and defied.

WE CAN'T BACK DOWN

It was not so long ago that Spain was a battle field. The Italians and Germans sent troops, machines and planes there to test them and to win political and economic control of Spain.

I recall again sitting in the press section at the House of Parliament. Chamberlain was prime minister then. He was as unimpressive as one of the bright brass screws made in his Birmingham plant. He was the leader of those who believed anything was better than war. Even loss of honor. Most things are better than war. There are, though, some things worse, as France and England have learned. In those days the opposition would denounce the British government for allowing Germany and Italy to send men and materials into Spain, doing nothing about it. France and England refused to help. I remember how bland and plausible was Chamberlain.

It is shocking to recall that the usual German arrogance, which complains of raids on Berlin while it bombs London, blustered and threatened war if England and France lifted a hand. And that while their own troops and planes were there fighting.

It is shocking, too, to recall that Germany and Italy forced Eden out of the British cabinet and that Germany notified the Chamberlain government any appointment of Winston Churchill would be considered a hostile act.

Chamberlain backed down and backed down until they wanted him to back no more. Then they struck, ignoring the tall, unimpressive man who had all but delivered over the empire, seeking to appease.

The lesson is plain that backing down does not save one from war. France and England backed down when Hitler began to argue. They knew it. They backed down when he went into the Rhin; when he took over the demilitarized section of the Rhine, when he went into Spain, when he took Austria and then the Sudeten territory and finally all Czechoslovakia.

All those nations, Japan, Italy and Germany, are geared for war. They can't ungear. The dictators can't go backward. They know they must win the big gamble or lose everything. The deceptions and the truths of life worry them not at all. They've got to keep going.

What does it mean? Sooner or later, in one form or another, it means us.

A Prairie Fire Can Be Checked Only by a Backfire Equally Fierce

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

"There is no excellence," quoth our fathers, "without great labor." And they might have added: "No great thing is done without fanatic zeal."

Developing that zeal requires more than a genius for leadership; one must also have a deep knowledge of psychology. Study the history of strange religious movements since the beginning of this era and you will find that all were built by the same pattern. The leader knew the workings of the human mind and offered bait that human nature could not resist. He made virtues of selfishness, avarice, malice and vanity.

"Join us," said he, "and you will be one of God's chosen people. The rich and educated and high-born have always looked down on you and treated you with contempt, but as one of our group you will be superior to them. They will be like the dirt under your feet and they can't oppose you without opposing God. If you have been downtrodden and despised, you will find it a wonderful and blessed experience to realize that you are superior to the high and mighty."

Next he said to them: "You haven't been getting your share of life's good things. The scheme of things was cheated you. The rich and powerful feast while you hunger. But your day is coming, and then the situation will be reversed. They will suffer and you will rejoice."

(Emerson hated this doctrine. He said it was equivalent to saying: "You may sin now, but we'll sin when our turn comes.") Finally the prophet says to his followers: "To envy the fortunate and hate them because of envy would be wicked, but you may hate them because they are against God. Cultivate hatred and give malice free rein, for it is a virtue to loathe and to injure the base creatures who will not join your crowd. Since you alone are righteous, all who oppose you must be wicked and deserving of ruin."

That in essence is the appeal that won power and glory for the Communists in Russia and the Nazis in Germany. In whatever name it may be used, the converts it wins are fanatics, burning with a white-hot zeal.

And they cannot be overcome except by a zeal that equals their own.

Digs Into Annals Of England and The Channel

Little while ago I felt an urge to brush up on the history of England, the succession of kings, the changes of dynasties.

My five volumes of Green were too formidable to tackle. It would mean six months' wading. But I had an idea. All I wanted was a few salient facts. And there was Dickens' Child's History of England, in one small volume. By the way, it was the first book, beside Mother Goose and similar classics, I ever owned.

I've just finished it. And it corrected my impressions about several things.

I'd thought and frequently read that there had been no invasion of England across the channel since William the Conqueror. That's all wrong.

Since before the Norman invasion and afterward it was almost a yearly occurrence for "eighty stout ships," the usual number, it seems, to sail from France, land in England and put an army on land. The English, likewise, landed their soldiers in France when occasion arose. The fleets ran like merryboats. Sometimes they were wrecked by storms, sometimes not.

The English owned a lot of France in those days—or claimed that territory. They lost all of it afterward. And they were constantly fighting in France on one side or the other in the wars among the dukes and petty monarchs. The turbulent channel doesn't seem to have bothered either side more than Peachtree creek would stop a foe today.

They Landed—But!

It is true the fortifications were not so hot. And there was no artillery. Just swords and battle axes and spears and arrows. The French and their friends could land. But as I gathered, none since William the Conqueror accomplished much after landing except to take a sound beating.

But it is interesting to note that in those grand old days, when captives were butchered by both sides and homes burned with the inhabitants inside and folk who thought differently from the rulers about opposing brands of religious thought were burned at the stake or hanged, drawn and quartered, the kings rode into battle and fought just as fiercely as they expected their armies to fight.

The book is at home and I can't check up on names. But more than one English king was hewn down on the battlefield and his corpse trampled by horses. Dickens' tells of one whose body was recognized by his battered crown—but I can hardly believe even the proudest king would wear as uncomfortable a hat into battle.

Our modern kings and emperors and presidents and prime ministers don't go out and fight in the forefront of their armies. No more than a railroad president or chairman of the board hustles out to boss cleaning up a wreck. They think they're more valuable back at headquarters directing operations. They're right, of course. As a mere fighter, a husky chap from the cotton field would be worth a couple of Churchills or Hitlers.

But perhaps if the statesmen who make the wars were forced to get out in front there wouldn't be so many wars.

To Louie Morris.

Governors and other dignitaries of Georgia and South Carolina will meet on October 11 to dedicate the new bridge across the Savannah river at Hartwell.

It seems definite that it's to be named the Louis Morris bridge. As it should be. Theoretically, I don't believe in monuments to living celebrities because who knows what will happen? But I doubt that Louis Morris will ever be convicted of murder or mayhem or malfeasance in office, whatever that means. Because I know Louie, and I'm glad to see him get flowers while he can smell 'em.

Louis Morris is a tall, slim, mild-mannered young man, fairly good looking and most pleasant company. His principal job is running the Hartwell Sun, a pretty good weekly newspaper. But he is also president of a railroad that runs from Hartwell to connect with the Southern not so far away.

Louie isn't a big shot as we figure them in Atlanta, with one of those income taxes that run into a long line of figures. He's just a small town fellow with a lot of friends and a lot of sense. And he has worked for that new bridge from who laid the rail, as the saying goes—though I can't see much sense in the saying. I'm glad they're going to name the new bridge for him.

68 Per Cent of Voters Believe Roosevelt Will Win—Gallup

About One Out of Every Six, or Sixteen Per Cent, Has No Opinion or Thinks Race Will Be Close

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP,
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 29.—From now until November 5 political leaders, Washington writers and the man-in-the-street will indulge in the election-year pastime of attempting to guess the winner.

As an interesting sidelight on the 1940 presidential race—and as nothing more—the American Institute of Public Opinion has asked a cross-section of voters throughout the country to make their guesses on the outcome at this time.

Today the results of the experiment show that a substantial majority of voters—far more than actually plan to vote for him—think President Roosevelt will be re-elected.

Voters in the survey were asked: "Regardless of how you yourself plan to vote, who do you think will be elected President?" Among those with more or less definite guesses, the replies were:

Think Roosevelt Will Win 68%
Think Willkie Will Win 32%
About one voter in six (16%) said he thought the race was too close or had no opinion.

A previous Institute test on this question, following the party nominations, showed 60 per cent saying Roosevelt would win, 40 per cent predicting a Willkie victory.

Perhaps the most interesting discovery of all is the fact that the latest change in the public's election-guessing actually came about while polls of public opinion were showing Willkie ahead.

Interviewing was completed just prior to the announcement of the Institute's third state-by-state survey on the actual voting strength of the two candidates, which showed Roosevelt passing Willkie for the first time.

Today's survey shows that Republican voters are less confident of winning than are Democrats. There is no indication, however, that this factor is diminishing the enthusiasm or "intensity" of Willkie's supporters.

The guesses of Democrats and Republicans with more or less definite opinions are as follows:

Guessing	Willkie	F.D.R.
Republicans	73%	27%
Democrats	4	96

Should such an embargo by the United States cause Japan to consider it a casus belli, it would not be a surprise to America. Naturally we must be on our guard in the Pacific. Japan must be considered a potential enemy. The Japanese military, we know, are accustomed to strike before a declaration of war. Our navy in that ocean must be put on a war basis to resist attack. A submarine attack on our fleet is not beyond the bounds of possibility.

Must Eye Atlantic.

But even with all the potential explosions in the Orient, the United States must not lose sight of the situation menacing us in the Atlantic. No lasting harm can result to us in the Orient as long as the British can hold back Hitler and Mussolini and preserve their fleet and their air force from defeat by the Axis navies and air power.

As a great industrial nation we must continue at high pressure to prepare ourselves while continuing to furnish Britain with everything it may need to win. England is on the firing line and her navy and air force are our first line of defense. When England falls, and not until then, we might be assaulted by the dictators.

Our policy now should be a watchful waiting game in the Pacific. It will not require our entire fleet to guard Hawaii and our Pacific coast. Japan cannot fight a war in the eastern Pacific without bases. Besides, Japanese ships are not built to carry on a war across the ocean. Their steaming radius is not adequate for such operations.

America's policy to preserve itself and continue to live in the American way should be to make it evident now to all the totalitarian powers that our principle objective is to save Great Britain from defeat.

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

Executive Secretary Hugh Kinchley, of the Roman Catholic Layman's Association of Georgia, with offices in Augusta, published a letter in The Constitution's Pulse of the Public last Tuesday, stating that the statement quoted in my column on September 18 with reference to the alleged declaration of the 45 Roman Catholic bishops of Germany, in a meeting held at Fulda, was "spurious," according to the correspondent of the National Catholic Welfare Conference News Service in Geneva.

Mr. Kinchley goes on to say that "these reports, given to the general press from the official Nazi news agency have been spread for obvious reasons by interested parties." The N. C. W. C. correspondent in Geneva further declared that it had learned reliably that His Holiness Pope Pius XII had addressed to the meeting of the German bishops a letter, the tenor of which precluded entirely any such resolution as the story emanating from the Nazi propaganda bureau intimated had been passed.

I was quoting from Time, issue of September 9, page 28, in which Time's introductory paragraph reads:

"In the ornate baroque palace of the prince-bishops at Fulda, 45 German Catholic bishops met last week in accordance with the will of the Vatican. In solemn conclave the bishops agreed, according to the German News Agency, that: 'And then follows the statement which I quoted. Time follows the quoted statement of the bishops with this paragraph:

"Result of the conference: a pastoral letter glorifying Adolf Hitler and German feats of arms which will be read from every German Catholic pulpit if and when Hitler wins his war. Thus did the Vatican, which has sought and found a modus vivendi with every victorious power except atheistic Soviet Russia, move to align itself with the new order in Europe. In an equally significant gesture to the southern Axis partner it announced that the semi-official Vatican news organ Osservatore Romano would cease publication. Banned outside Vatican city by the Italian government because it printed British war communiques, it has lost circulation as rapidly as it gained it last autumn, when Romans discovered its unique impartiality. Osservatore Romano will be replaced by a Jesuit-owned paper, Corriere Vaticano, which will feature 'artistic and literary subjects.'"

I am very glad to have the information which Mr. Kinchley gives regarding the incident at Fulda. I have forwarded copy of his letter in The Constitution to the editors of Time.

Forget Japan For Time, Eye Axis, U. S. Told

Admiral Stirling Warns European Situation Must Be Cleared First.

(Editor's Note: Rear Admiral Yates Stirling Jr., U. S. N. (Retired), is former chief of staff of the United States fleet and now United Press naval critic.)

By ADMIRAL YATES STIRLING

(Copyright, 1940, by United Press.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Japan at last has removed her mask of friendship, and through the alliance with the Axis powers has revealed herself our enemy.

This alliance makes it evident that should we take active hostile steps to stop Japan in the western Pacific, then we shall be in the war. Japan's thought might have been that the United States might become sufficiently aggravated to fight Japan alone in the Orient, but if that also would mean committing us to a war with the Axis powers in Europe, then America might hesitate and become more reasonable in her dealings with Japan. This idea is conveyed in Japan's declaration that its alliance with the Axis is not for the purpose of drawing America into war but to avert war. Here is another example of Japan's lack of knowledge of American psychology.

Germany's object in agreeing to this alliance is no doubt the hope of keeping American interests concentrated in the Pacific. Germany believes that the threat of combined armed action against interfering America in Asiatic affairs would counsel us to cut down the help short of war now being given to Great Britain.

Welcome Tie-up.

It must be evident that Great Britain welcomes the Japanese tie-up with the Axis, for it has forced Japan into the open. Britain also hopes that this alliance will make America all the more willing to give her aid.

Japan's action does not alter our desire for a just settlement of affairs in the Far East. It will not be necessary to show open hostility towards Japan, nor would it be wise at this time to move our fleet into the Orient. We have been supplying Japan for years with materials which have enabled her to increase her war-making powers, while we have been buying large quantities of goods from Japan, the money from which has been used by Japan to buy war material and other goods in foreign markets. If this trade with Japan should be stopped, it would be one way of letting Japan know our disapproval both of her actions in Asia and her alliance with Hitlerism in Europe.

Southern States Four-Ball Tourney Starts Today at East Lake

Winning System NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 29.—If Huey Long were still living and in power down here in the bayou country no two disciples of the Notre Dame system in football ever would play in this section on the same Saturday again.

Two of "Rock's" boys made a clean sweep on Saturday. Coach Frank Leahy's Boston College eleven stunned Tulane and Harry Mehre's Old Miss Rebels poured the power to L. S. U.

If Huey Long were living, he'd favor any kind of eleven, including the Notre Dame, walloping Tulane, but he would balk in behalf of old Lou.

Seriously, the twin blows to the football pride of the state of Louisiana richly enhanced the already handsome prestige of the Notre Dame system. Each victory was achieved in a one-sided manner. But getting back to Huey Long—you can't forget the man when you see the things he left as monuments to his memory. There are folks who still recall his run-in with the Ringling Bros. circus.

It is quite a story.

The circus and L. S. U. were scheduled at the same time in Baton Rouge. L. S. U. was playing an important game. Long learned about it and called a Ringling representative long distance. He hinted the circus might change its date. The circus refused, so the story goes.

The upshot was that Long reminded the representative of Louisiana's tick law. He told him that it might be necessary to enforce it. "I wonder, sir," said Huey Long, "if you have ever had experience dipping a lion?"

Makes It Tough Boston College has made it tough on future opponents of the Tulane Green Wave.

Some say Coach Red Dawson's squad is "beautiful but dumb," but there is no discounting the talent.

It is amazing, and always will remain so, that a major power in football has kicked around so convincingly. Boston College has an unusually fine football team, but Tulane, unless everyone is fooled, has all the material a coach could desire. Superior B. C. line play made the difference.

Tulane has the material. And that is why I say Boston College has made it tough for future opponents. Tulane is going to be bouncing back with blood in its eyes, so to speak. Whether or not the Wave can reassemble the shattered forces and regain morale in time for the big game with Auburn this weekend remains to be seen.

Auburn has been working for Tulane for weeks and Boston's performance was highly encouraging to them beyond a doubt.

Auburn Has a Fine Squad Still, Tulane has lost face and the boys will be tough in every future game.

As Coach Red Dawson said after the game: "Don't worry over this Tulane team. It will come out all right. We lost to a fine team. We made too many mistakes, but managed to pull ourselves together in the second half and turn in a more creditable performance. I expected our team, largely inexperienced, to make mistakes, but not quite that many. The boys will come along, though."

Don't be surprised if they do. The talent is there.

See Plenty Coaches Wallace Butts and Ears Whitworth, of Georgia, scouted Ole Miss Saturday night at Baton Rouge. They saw plenty.

They were impressed by the spark-plug performance of Left Halfback Junius Hovius, but thought a great deal more of the power running of Burley Merle Hapes, Harry Mehre's fullback.

Burley Merle averaged seven yards every time he got his hands on the football. Besides that, he threw two touchdown passes and scored once himself—only to have it nullified because of an off-side penalty.

On nine carries, Hapes picked up 64 yards. Total yardage figures were most impressive. Ole Miss piled up 328 yards to 177 by Old Lou. The Rebels presented a strong defensive team as well as one that knows its way around offensively. Butts and Whitworth had cause for alarm.

Georgia's Bulldogs and Ole Miss' Rebels tangle on Saturday week at Athens, and the bulk of experience is on the Ole Miss side.

The Rebels will go into the game as the favorites. It might be better for Georgia if the game were being played in November.

That would give the Bulldog sophomores a chance to absorb some needed experience.

It should be a thriller, at any rate. Chances are it will be difficult to find a seat at Sanford Field.

Rough on Experts It already is well established that the 1940 football season is going to be rough on experts.

Nobody discounted the fact that Wake Forest had a strong eleven, but few expected the Deacons to defeat North Carolina—let alone shut out the Tarheels.

Last year the Tarheels beat the Deacons unmercifully; beat practically the same team by a terrific score. There were five touchdowns to one.

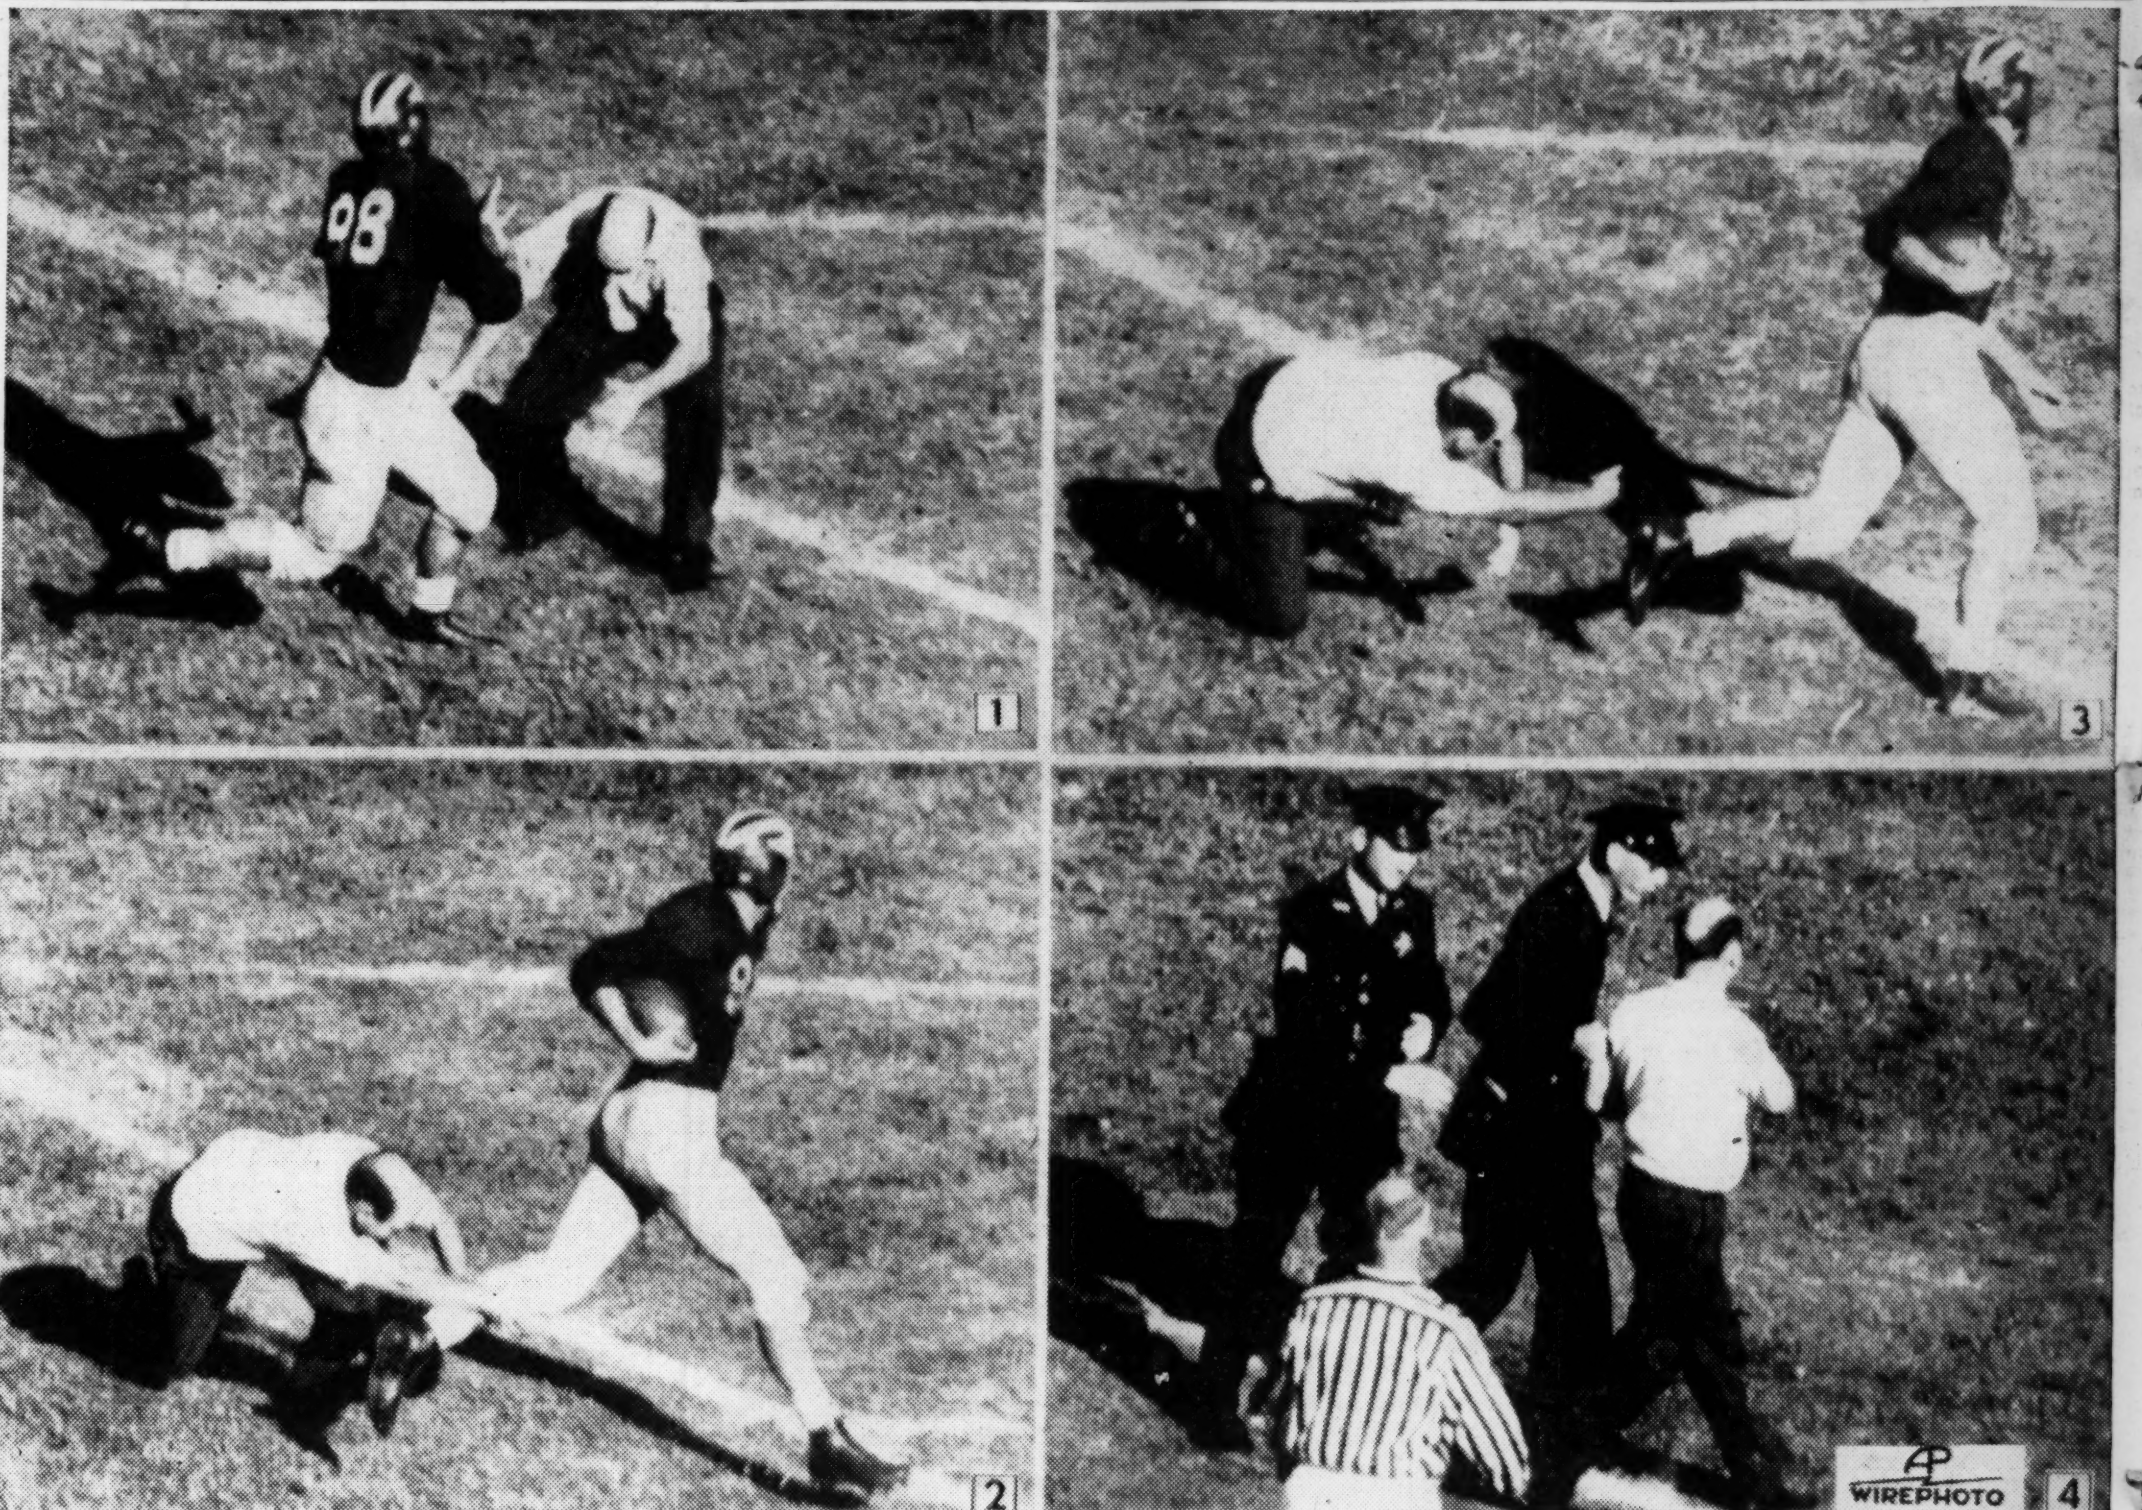

There was no getting around the fact that Boston College had a strong squad. Still, the year before it had been bumped by Florida, one of the Southeastern's lesser elevens, and Clemson.

So there was hardly any way to figure the Eagles flying so high against the Tulane Green Wave. The Wave had licked Clemson the year before. Now, if you want to play at being an expert, figure out who's going to win Saturday when Tennessee and Duke clash at Knoxville.

It hardly will be a repetition of their last meeting, which ended in a scoreless tie. And yet it could be a dull, colorless game if they play the cards as close to their vests as they did the last time.

One of Saturday's more impressive performances, getting back to the present, was Mississippi State's one-sided victory over Florida. The score was 25-7. Florida lost only two men from last year's team, which was one of the best defensive clubs around.

Out on the Pacific Coast, California, reputed to be much improved, was stunned by Michigan, 41 to 0. U. S. C. and Washington State tied. Not to mention Minnesota's conquest of Washington.

12 MEN COULDN'T STOP HIM—BERKELEY, Cal., Sept. 29.—Tom Harmon, Michigan's All-American back, scored four touchdowns Saturday as the Wolverines smothered California, 41-0. Finally, a spectator, who sympathized with the Bears and who was a bit on the tipsy side, decided to try and wreck the Michigan express train. In the above series of pictures the spectator is doing his best. Photo No. 1 shows Harmon after he had galloped 84 yards, with our friend just coming upon the scene. He made a grab for Harmon (No. 2), who cut to one side and loped the remaining two yards (No. 3) for his third touchdown. Police took the reeling fan in hand (No. 4).

Opening Upsets Bring Outsider To Sugar Bowl

Tulane, L. S. U., Perennial Bowl Teams, Eliminated From Race.

By PRICE HOWARD.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Louisiana's Sugar Bowl chiefs have run into the prospect of going outside their state for the second time in history to select a southern football team for their New Year's Day classic.

Tulane or Louisiana State University has been matched against invaders in the New Orleans bowl annually except for one year. Now both are beaten after the first full week's campaigning. Each bowed to the Notre Dame style of play as other Southeastern Conference leaders warmed up successfully giving Mississippi's two members an early start in the conference race.

Tulane's potentially-powerful Greenies, rated one of the circuit's three leading contenders, saw some of their bowl hopes fade in a stunningly decisive loss to Boston College, 27-7. Mississippi whipped L. S. U., 19-6, and Mississippi State conquered Florida, 25-7, in Saturday's only conference engagements.

MANY MISTAKES.

Coach Red Dawson said he figured his Greenies would expect them to make "that many" against a powerful eastern team that mixed passes with an alert game to give Tulane its first setback in a regular-season game since Alabama turned the trick, 3-0, in 1938.

Tulane had dropped only three games, two by three points and one by a single point, in its last 20 starts.

Mississippi State uncorked a great running attack by piling up 356 yards from rushing against Florida's 7 to come from behind and in the air against 43. Duke's Blue Devils prepared for the battle of Knoxville by keeping its offense under cover also in a 23-0 decision over Virginia Military.

PETRELS ROUTED.

Georgia limited Oglethorpe to a minus seven yards and gained 358 yards itself in routing the Petrels, 53-0.

Auburn, with a veteran backfield that showed flashes of running power in a 27-13 victory over Howard, will tackle Tulane on the rebound in this week's only conference struggle. Two inter-sectionals are on tap, Holy Cross invading L. S. U. for a night battle and Vanderbilt traveling to

Vols Blank Buffs, 6 to 0, Behind Adams' Pitching

By RAYMOND JOHNSON,
Nashville Tennessean.

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 29.—Ace Adams' brilliant pitching enabled the Nashville Vols to make it two straight over the Houston Buffs as they gained a 6-to-0 victory here today. The win was the third for the Southern League champions against one loss in the four-out-of-seven-game series for the Dixie championship.

Adams scattered eight hits so well that only one Houston player got past first base. He struck out six and had things very much in his own way from start to finish. Only in one inning did the Buffs get as many as two safeties and one of these was rubbed out when he tried some stupid base running.

Sam Nahem made his second start against Adams and the Vols and was charged with his second loss. He was routed in the second inning when the Southern champs scored three times to tie the contest. Howard Pollett, sensational left-hander, was charged with the other three tallies. Henry Nowak, pitching foot and one-third in his one round. All told the four permitted only nine safeties, but most of them came when they were productive of tallies.

The Vols turned in three double plays which erased what mild threats the Buffs made. Great fielding by Dick Culler and Arnold Moser and a couple of timely blows by Bob Boken and Oris Hockett sealed Houston's fate.

Rocco Jeffcoat will face Ted Wilks at 8:15 o'clock Monday night when the fifth game of the series will be played. If the Buffs win, the clubs will resume the series in Nashville on Wednesday night. If they don't, it is all over.

Rocco doubted to right with one away in the second to start the Vols' run-making. He came home on Boken's bingle to center. Culler singled to right and Mihalic beat out an infield hit which tallied Boken. Moser's one-bagger to center registered Culler's first hit.

Pollett walked Culler with one out in the fourth when the Southern champs added three more runs. Adams advanced him on a sacrifice and Mihalic followed with another infield hit. After Moser walked to fill the bases, Hockett dropped a Texas League single back of short that counted Culler and Mihalic. When Cross threw wild to third, Moser also scored and Hockett pulled up to second. After Dugas walked, Nowak replaced Pollett and stopped the slaughter. That also ended the scoring for the day.

Princeton with a 19-0 win over Washington and Lee.

The Kentucky Wildcats, unscathed upon in 59-0 and 13-0 victories over Baldwin-Wallace and Xavier, will tackle W. and L. Georgia plays South Carolina in a third battle between the Southeastern and Southern conferences. The others have smaller hurdles.

Alabama's Crimson Tide, its sophomores slow to find their bearings, breezed through little Spring Hill handily, 26-0, limiting its attack and yielding only 14 yards on ground. Georgia Tech and Sewanee were idle last week.

Budge Defeats Perry To Clinch Pro Net Crown

Red Head Succeeds Vines After Lively 4-Set Setto With Englishman.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—(P)—Donald Budge, former world's amateur champion, won the national professional tennis championship today with a four-set victory over Fred Perry, Beverly Hills, Cal. The score was 6-3, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3.

After a dull first set, the two ex-Davis cup stars, warmed up and put on a lively battle before 3,500 spectators.

Budge took a 5-3 lead in the second set and appeared to be on his way to a straight set victory when Perry rallied. The former British champion took four straight games and the set for his most impressive streak.

Each player won his own service for the first eight games of the third set before Budge broke through and took the set at 6-4.

Red-haired Budge, who is from Oakland, Cal., was never in serious trouble in the final set. The victory completed Budge's sweep of the major tennis titles, the lanky conqueror having already won all important amateur honors before turning pro. He succeeds Ellsworth Vines, who did not defend his title.

Budge and Perry then teamed together to capture the doubles championship, defeating the veteran pair, Bill Tilden and Vincent Richards, 7-5, 6-3, 9-7.

Budge earned $250 for his singles championship and the doubles crown was worth $150 apiece to Budge and Perry. Perry received $150 as runner-up in singles and Tilden and Richards got $100 each as doubles runners-up.

Gaillard and Barnes To Play Perry, Smith

By AL SHARP.

Tommy Barnes and Gene Gaillard will meet Sam Perry and Gordon Smith, of Alabama, in what should be the feature match of the opening round in the Southern States Four-Ball golf tournament, which starts this morning at the East Lake No. 1 course.

Jock Sutherland Pittsburgh Hero

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Doctor Jock Sutherland played his same old role of winning football coach here today.

Making his first appearance in the Smoky City since he resigned as coach of the University of Pittsburgh Panthers in 1938, Sutherland masterminded his professional Brooklyn Dodgers to a 10-to-3 victory over the Steelers in a National League game.

A crowd of 26,618 welcomed Sutherland home and it cheered as much for the doctor and his boys as it did for the home team. The former Pitt coach was given a tremendous hand when he walked on the field before the game, but his only acknowledgment was a slight wave of his hand.

While the Atlantans are taking on Perry, twice winner of the Southern Amateur title, and Smith, a former Alabama champ, the other Georgia team of Jennings Gordon, state champion from Rome, and Johnny Oliver, of Valdosta, will face Wes Casper and Pete Doll, of Kentucky.

14 TEAMS.

Fourteen two-man teams will compete in the four-day tourney for the beautiful Bob Jones plaque, which commemorates his Grand Slam. The thirty-six-hole

Decatur Plays Russell Team Tonight, 7:30

Decatur High, fat and sassy from a 39-0 drubbing of Fulton High in their opening game, will take on the Russell High eleven tonight at 7:30 o'clock on the Decatur field in a game postponed from last Thursday night.

Smoky Joe Martin's boys are favored to tame the Wildcats this time. Russell was upset by Hapeville, 7-6, in their first melee, and the Bulldogs, with a much heavier and more talented team than last year, have their fangs bared for a good season. With a little polishing they might even be a serious threat for the N. G. I. C. title, worn now by Weyman Tucker's graduation-riddled, but still powerful North Fulton crew.

Out in Decatur, where they do things in a large way, they are expecting an even larger turnout tonight than the 3,000 which poured in for their season opener against the Red Birds. Out there, big Red Broyles, the Brown brothers, and other of the hard-charging Bulldogs can do no wrong. They are expecting big things of Martin's husky crew.

matches will be played Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Bobby Dunkelberger, who won the tourney last year with Skip Alexander, will play with Jack Garrett, of High Point, this time. The North Carolina team will face Jimmy Tupper and Harold Hirsch, of Tennessee, in the opening round.

Other pairings for the first round:

John G. Fletcher and Dick Van Kleeck, of Florida, vs. Marshall Balentine and George McCallister, of South Carolina. Harold Hall and Preston Hennessey, of South Carolina, vs. Weldon Doe and Harold Williams, of Alabama. Sut Alexander and Ed Schreiber, of North Carolina, vs. Bill Stark and Crawford Rainwater, of Florida.

TWO BYES.

Johnny Grant and Polly Boyd, of Tennessee, and George Helm and John Steier, of Kentucky, drew byes.

The Georgia teams are given excellent chances to reach the finals of the tournament, although Barnes and Gaillard are expected to have their hands full today with the strong Alabama entry.

The absence of Skip Alexander leaves the tourney a wide-open affair, and it would be no surprise if a darkhorse entry turned up in the finals.

Tickets for the tourney, which is sponsored by the Southern Amateur Golf Association, are being sold by the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee Junior Guild. The proceeds will be used to carry on the guild's work at its mountain school.

St. Mary's Gaels Wallop Gonzaga

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—(P)—St. Mary's Gaels galloped to an impressive 16-to-0 upset victory over Gonzaga's Bulldogs today before 20,000 fans.

The Gaels made a 61-yard touchdown march in the opening period, two more points on a safety in the second, and a touchdown in the third.

For the last touchdown Left Halfback Ed Heffernan whipped the ball 35 yards to Right Half Tony Campagno, who raced 40 yards down the sidelines, brushing off three Gonzaga tacklers on the way.

George Selkirk Much Improved

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(P)—George (Twinkleton) Selkirk, veteran New York Yankees' outfielder, was reported in "very good condition" Saturday after an appendicitis operation.

Selkirk suffered an attack in the second game of yesterday's double-header against the Senators in Washington. He was rushed to New York by plane and operated on by the Yankees' team physician, Dr. Robert E. Walsh, at St. Elizabeth's hospital last night.

Birmingham Wins Baseball Title, 6-1

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Sept. 29.—(P)—The Birmingham (Ala.) Paper Company team defeated the Post Products, of Battle Creek, 5 to 1, to win the Sandlot World Series of the American Baseball Congress today and establish a tourney record with six consecutive victories.

John Stansberry, righthander who hurled a no-hit no-run 4-0 victory over Detroit in the tournament opener September 21, gained the decision over Lester Gray today although Gray gave only five hits, two of them infield scratches.

Stansberry allowed seven blows. Six Post Products errors contributed to all Birmingham's runs.

TURF CHAMP.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(P)—The two-year-old racing championship of the year was still a matter for argument today, but Roy G. Martin's Our Boots was given the leading claim to the throne as a result of his victory in the rich Belmont futurity.

Ewing Captures Druid Hills Meet

George Ewing beat Robert Taylor III for the junior club championship at Druid Hills Sunday afternoon, 2 up.

Drew Fuller defeated Charles Childs 1 up on the nineteenth hole in the first-flight finals.

Installing Stokers and Furnaces Keep Moncrief Company Busy

Show 300 Pct. Stoker Gain Over Last Year

Old and Popular Concern Has Complete Line of House Warmers.

By PRESS HUDDLESTON.

One peep in the display rooms the Moncrief Furnace Company, 676 Hemphill avenue, N. W., is convincing proof that people are beginning not only to feel the pangs of winter, but that they are recognizing this well known concern as a splendid cure for the ills that accompany a cold home, and are coming to them for help.

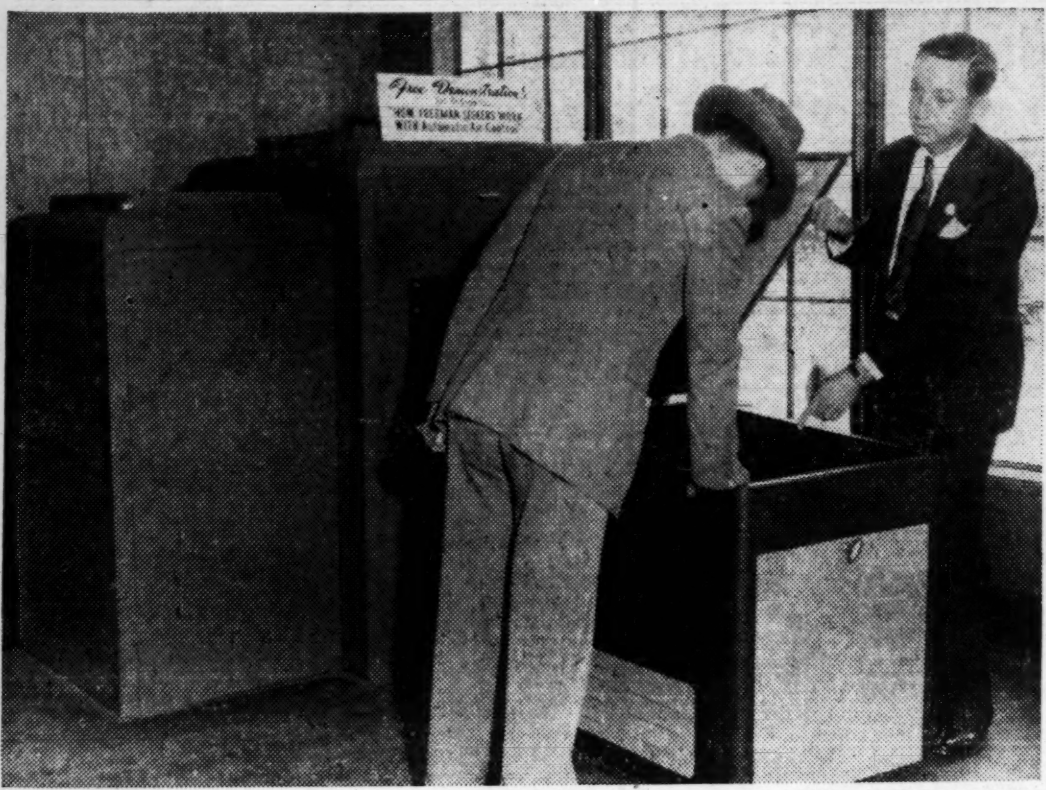

The company is one of the best and best known in the South among concerns that supply warmth and comfort to the home. Just now they are busy installing stokers and stokers, gas heaters, conditioning, etc., to many homes throughout this city and section.

The stoker department of Moncrief is showing a 300 per cent gain in sales over the season of 1939—quite a compliment to the dependability and service they render. In the accompanying picture is shown a Freeman stoker, one of the many types of automatic heating apparatuses owned by the company. This stoker is specially adapted for all types of warm air furnaces, but the company has other types.

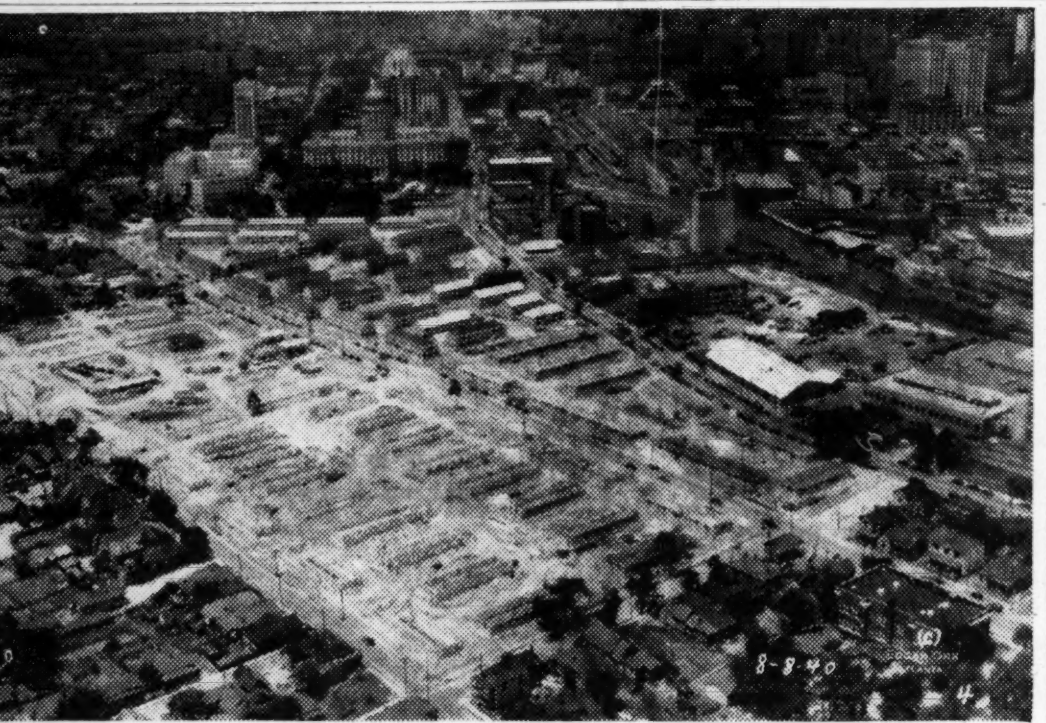

Just now the company reports that the thousands of customers whom it has installed various furnaces in the past is coming back and is adding the type of stoker best suited for their needs. With a large and complete line of furnaces, coal furnaces, air conditioning apparatus, and with a line of stokers of various sizes, the company is leading the van in making homes in this section more comfortable and livable.

Stokers have grown in great favor the past few years. Those who have had to handle the warming of a home realize now the convenience and advantages of a stoker. They know the splendid even heat it provides for the home. They know the many steps they have avoided in running down every place in awhile to throw more coal in the furnace. They know that one of these automatic arrangements is the thing that provides ready, even heat, and demands very little attention, once it is properly set and started on its house-warming mission.

The Moncrief Furnace Company is one of the largest—if not the largest—concerns in the South, handling all types of furnaces and stoking features for the home. If you have a furnace that requires

ADMIRING STOKER—Here is shown L. F. Kent, president of Moncrief Furnace Company, explaining advantages of a Freeman stoker to a prospective customer. The company handle all types of gas and coal furnaces, stokers, air-conditioning apparatus, etc., and are kept on the jump as the winter season approaches.

Ready-Mixed Mortar Used in Capitol Homes

Atlanta Aggregate Company Supplying Mortar for Federal Job.

It was a big job—but big jobs are the type that just suits the Atlanta Aggregate Company, and so this concern is going right along supplying the ready-mixed mortar to the big job of building the Capitol Homes slum-clearance project, out in the Hunter-Fair street section of the city.

There hundreds of homes are going up in one of the big federal projects now well in hand here. To have mixed their mortar for the erection of these homes it would have taken many pits to provide the mortar scattered over the scores of blocks the place will cover.

Now, the matter of mortar—and it takes a lot of it—for building these Capitol Homes is a simple proposition. The Atlanta Aggregate Company simply hauls it in large special trucks and dumps it right down at the right spot for use at every home.

W. M. Henritze, superintendent of the Virginia Engineering Company, who is the general contractor for the erection of these homes, is high in his praise of this ready-mixed mortar. "It is not only a first-rate, high-class mortar—just as good as can be made—but the time it saves is worth much to us. Why, we would have to build pits or mortar-mixers all over the whole area of this slum project—or move them from time to time—but this ready-mixed mortar comes to us just as we need it, all ready for use, and is dumped right down where we can best and most conveniently use it. It saves time and expense, and it is doing a good job for us."

The Aggregate Company not only supplies its ready-mixed mortar for large jobs, such as the federal project mentioned, but is ready to meet all demands for individual home building, for walkways and driveways, or for any other purpose for which mortar is used.

Officials of the Atlanta Aggregate Company say this about their ready-mixed mortar:

"In the preparation of lime putty mortar rock lime is run through a grinder and mixed with water, then strained and placed in vats to age. This aging is very vital, as it makes for more plasticity and strength in the mortar—also it causes the mortar to be smoother, and the bricklayer can lay more brick per day. It also insures a better job, as washed, shipped sand is used, rather than creek sand, which contains a certain amount of loam and mica. The washed sand also has greater load-bearing strength and is approved by the state and federal agencies."

"This lime putty makes an excellent finish coat for plaster, as due to its aging, it works much smoother and easier than the overnight mixture. The plasterers favor it and the cost is much below that of slacked lime."

"The mortar mixers used by the Aggregate Company are all designed, tested and certified by the Georgia Tech laboratory,

NIMBLE FINGERS AT REST—Here is the attractive group of young ladies who do the re-weaving and mending at the Georgia Re-weaving Company, 22 Cain street. Just now, when not taking a brief rest, as Photographer Wilson found 'em, they are as busy as bees making rents and burns and holes in garments of all kind disappear. First row, Mrs. Mary Vining, Mrs. Sara-Bentley McKinley, manager; Mrs. Edna Matthews. Top row, Miss Grace Grant, Miss Elizabeth Bice and Miss Hazel Moore.

Forty-Eight Nimble Fingers Reweave Rents, Holes in Clothes

Forty-eight nimble fingers—not counting 10 thumbs, which are also necessary—are just now proving an advantage—almost a blessing—to many scores of Atlanta people, who are having reweaved, or otherwise neatly darned, snag holes, burns, moth holes, or other rents in their garments.

These fingers and thumbs are at the arm ends of six very attractive young ladies, who make up the force of expert workers at the Georgia Re-weaving Company, 22 Cain street, just a few doors west of the Henry Grady hotel.

These nimble fingers, with the aid of the most modern types of machines made for the purpose, when a machine is necessary, are verifying the truth of their slogan, "The South's Leading Re-weavers," for certainly they are proving that by their works. Regardless of materials—whether on woollens, silks or linens—the work of repairing rents or snags or burns is skillfully done by hand—so delicately re-woven that the place mended is practically invisible.

Keep in mind the location when you need repairs of this kind—22 Cain street. This concern was one of the first to begin such type of work in this city, and the concern now has a large list of patrons throughout the city—in fact, throughout the state and the south

Old Felt Hats Treated Well By Roselle

Are Cleaned and Reshaped to Your Entire Satisfaction.

Well, have you had that felt cleaned and reshaped yet? Now, don't let anybody deceive you about hat-cleaning and hat-renovating work. This type of work, if done right, and done well, offers economy and satisfaction aplenty. But when the job is not done according to right methods, and by the right expert with the right machinery, a more-or-less botch is made of the job.

That's why so many people take their hats to Roselle the Hatter, at 42 Forsyth street, N. W., to have just the kind of job done that they know will please them.

Roselle has his place equipped with the same type of machinery used in the manufacturer's plant that made the hat originally. Thus equipped with modern methods and with factory equipment—Roselle guarantees perfect satisfaction, and it is no wonder that his place at 42 Forsyth street is one of the busy places at this season. They are rendering the highest type of improvements to be made in headgear for Atlantans and for patrons all over the state.

However, it is not only men's hats that the Roselle shop make over into well-appearing headgear, it caters to work for the ladies. Any felt that the owner feels can be cleaned or changed as to shape, is welcome at the Roselle shop, and satisfaction will be guaranteed. Whether a man's hat, a boy's or a lady's, there will be real economy for you in letting Roselle clean and shape it all over nicely for you.

So, take that old felt that you had thought about discarding, and drop it in at Roselle's—see if you don't have a splendid and satisfactory head-piece when Roselle and his cleaners and shapers get through with it.

Cold Weather 'Round Corner, See Bowling

Well-Known Coal Dealer Can Make Your Home Comfortable.

This nippy, chilly weather makes one think of warm clothes, of warm houses—of heat for the coming winter.

And when one thinks in terms of that kind, then, naturally, his thoughts turn to coal—and when he thinks of coal, scores of people think of the Bowling Coal Company, at 985 North Boulevard, at Tenth street. Scores of folks also think of George Bowling's coal yards at 218 McDonough boulevard, known as the Full-Ton Coal Company.

Why do they think of Bowling and his coal places? Simply because for several years this well-experienced coal man has been supplying many scores of families with their winter coal.

Mr. Bowling was born right in the heart of the coal region in Tennessee. He has "grown up" with coal—he knows coal—knows all the various types and merits of coal. He not only knows coal, but in the conduct of his business here for years, his reputation for full weights, good coal, and quick service has made him a popular coal distributor.

Bowling's place on North Boulevard has been established about a year or more. After conducting his McDonough boulevard place for years, he thought he could be of equal service in the northern section of the city, so he secured the location on North Boulevard, and now divides his time between the two places. He has not succeeded any other coal interests in his Boulevard business, and has no other connection in the coal line except with the company bearing his name and his Full-Ton Coal Company.

Bowling handles two popular and well-merited types of coal—Regal and Southern Star. From these brands he is enabled to furnish any size coal for any purpose, and coal buyers in the city are fast finding this out, for his trucks can and do make deliveries in any section of the city.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY—Band Leader Hal Kemp brought a group of University of North Carolina boys to Atlanta to appear on a theater stage here. The boys thought they were pretty good musicians. Atlanta thought so, too. Hal Kemp and his band went on to win recognition on stages, in ballrooms and on the radio. Most of these boys now have bands of their own, but the Kemp aggregation of musicians is still among the top bands of the nation. Kemp is playing another engagement now in Atlanta—a birthday one. He is shown here with his singer, Janet Blair, at the Rainbow Room.

Pacific Parley Plans Drawn To Avoid Break Urged by Group

U. S. Doesn't Realize Far East Problems, Says Publisher.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Declaring that the Far Eastern situation is coming to a head rapidly, Paul Patterson, publisher of the Baltimore Sun, said today the United States must take prompt and decisive steps if an open rupture with Japan is to be avoided.

This is the opinion of a group of American businessmen and officials with whom the publisher toured the Pacific area and orient by air, Patterson said on his arrival in Baltimore today.

"The three-power pact signed by Germany, Italy and Japan has simply brought into the open a situation of which those who have been traveling in the Far East have been aware all the time," Patterson said.

They were guests on the tour of C. V. (Sonny) Whitney, of New York, chairman of the board of Pan-American Airways, who said yesterday at San Francisco that Secretary of State Hull should call a conference of Pacific nations "at the earliest possible moment" to discuss problems of the interested countries.

"All of us in the group which toured the Pacific concurred with Mr. Whitney's proposal," Patterson added.

"There was agreement in our group that a more definite position taken by the United States in the beginning would have avoided much of the difficulty that has since arisen."

SOLON URGES GUAM AS LISTENING POST

HONOLULU, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Guam and other strategic Pacific islands owned by the United States should be equipped as "listening posts" in America's defense of the Pacific, Chairman Colgate W. Barden Jr., Democrat, Virginia, of the house naval affairs subcommittee said today.

Barden and other members of the group, making a 15,000-mile inspection tour "to see that the entire naval program is rushed along as fast as possible," arrived here aboard the cruiser Chicago.

The committeemen, he said, are interested chiefly in progress made in building seaplane bases at Midway, Palmyra and Johnston islands.

Rolls Royce Plant Hit By Dive Bomber—Nazis

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—(Monday)

(AP)—German dive bombers attacked the Rolls Royce Motor Works in Derby, England, from a height of approximately 170 feet in raids yesterday. DNB, official German news agency, reported today.

It said one of the warplanes piloted by First Lieutenant Baron von Butlar started a power dive directly over assembly halls and dropped bombs of the heaviest caliber at a moment when he "could not miss."

The crew reported seeing the collapse of the halls with crashing walls, DNB reported.

FIREMEN PASS TESTS.

ROME, Ga., Sept. 29.—Fire Chief W. T. McKinney announced here today that every man in his department has passed first-aid tests and will be awarded a certificate soon. The 31 Rome firemen attended daily classes in a standard Red Cross first-aid course taught by a fellow member of the department, Jack Riden.

Good Time, Bad Dimes Land 2 in Jail

Suspects Accused of Testing Counterfeit Through Whisky Purchase.

In the melancholy surroundings of a police cell, George Collier, 49, and Harold McMahon, 30, sadly pondered their fate last night and wondered if they were not the world's most unlucky pair.

For George and Harold, police say, are counterfeiters, and once sought to make an easy living by casting phony dimes. Detectives L. T. Bullard and M. V. Moss yesterday told this story of the adventures of the firm of Collier & McMahon:

They constructed a plaster of paris mould, bought a little lead, and decided to see what the results would be.

Make Experiment.

They made some 50 dimes. They looked pretty good.

Forthwith, they decided to make an experiment. They would make a "half and half purchase"—that is, they would buy something and for payment offer half the price in genuine money, and half in their shiny new counterfeit dimes.

Being just a little thirsty, they decided to buy half a pint of whisky. They offered the man six dimes, three genuine and three false. The clerk took their money and handed them the whisky.

Matters were looking bright for the dime factory of Collier and McMahon. Except...

That George and Harold got drunk on that half pint of whisky. Before long George and Harold were looking at the station lieutenant, charged with being just "plain drunks."

False Dimes Found.

So, just like any other Saturday night offenders, they were searched. In the pockets of Collier were 46 dimes that the sharp eyes of a policeman readily detected as false.

And not many minutes later Detectives Bullard and Moss dropped around to pay a little visit to McMahon's home on Cherokee avenue. There they found the mold and a melting pot.

So now Collier and McMahon are waiting in a police station cell for federal authorities—men who do not like the mention of private dime factories.

Compensation Suit Is Held Important

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

ROME, Ga., Sept. 29.—Decision of the Georgia supreme court in upholding a verdict of a compensation commission, in a suit against Ocean Accident and Guaranty Company and Eagle Stove Works, of Rome, was regarded here today as an important ruling in a test suit.

Although the case involved an award of only $50 under the workman's compensation act, attorneys for local labor unions declared that the decision would have important bearing on all future compensation cases. Defendant firms took the case to the Georgia court of appeals after Judge Claude H. Porter had upheld the verdict of the compensation commission. The appellate court reversed Judge Porter's decision, but the supreme court reversed the appellate tribunal.

The case centered around the issue of whether or not the basis of determining compensation when a plant was operating on short time should be three days or six days. The six-day basis was upheld.

Japanese Panic Chinese

In Search for Attacker

SHANGHAI, Sept. 30 (Monday).—(UP)—Japanese troops closed all exits from the Japanese-controlled area north of Soochow creek, cordoned off a huge area and were conducting a house-to-house search early today for persons who assassinated a Japanese army officer just before midnight.

The search was creating panic among Chinese fearing possible reprisals.

Chinese Take Japanese Pact Without Alarm

Say Axis Has Shown It Can't Help Japan in Asia.

CHUNGKING, Sept. 29.—(AP)—China feels no anxiety over Japan's addition to the Rome-Berlin Axis, informed political sources declared today, because Germany and Italy already have shown their inability to aid Japan's Asiatic conquest.

The only reflection of official opinion was an editorial in the Central Daily News which called the tri-power pact a hollow pretense with Germany and Italy seeking Japanese assistance in Europe and Japan seeking Axis support in Asia.

Neither is possible, it argued, because of geographic distances and the military weakness of the signatories.

Many men and women who hold responsible positions, got their start through a Situation-Wanted ad in The Constitution. The ads that employers read—the cost is small—phone yours NOW!

British Raiders Bomb Jibuti, Italy Admits

Rome Claims Patrols Put To Flight in Land Actions.

ROME, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Italian sources today reported the British had bombed Jibuti, former French port in Somaliland for the first time, during a series of farflung aerial operations on the African front by both British and Italians.

Ten persons were killed and wounded at Jibuti by low-flying British airmen who attacked the terminal of the Ethiopian railroad to Addis Ababa, the official Italian news agency, Stefani, reported.

The British bombed Bardia and Derna, Italian shore bases in Libya, Salum on the Egyptian coast, Giabub, an oasis post on the Egyptian-Libyan border 150 miles inland, and Assab, Dessia, Combolcia, and Uesca Ueca, north of Lake Rudolf, in East Africa.

The high command said British patrols were put to flight in land actions along the Kenya border at Todignac, near Lake Rudolf on the west, and east of Wajir on the east. The British left six dead and many wounded in the western action, the Italians said.

TOGETHER—Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Abercrombie, of East Point, shown above, were honored at an open house yesterday at the home of their son, G. D. Abercrombie, at 323 Hope street, Hapeville. The event marked their golden wedding anniversary which was Saturday.

Former Mercer Athlete Injured

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 29.—(AP)—A 20-year-old youth lost his life and his chum was injured critically today when an airplane they rented for the afternoon crashed near the University of Tennessee football stadium. The dead flyer was Dick Mather, a freshman at the university. His companion was Robert Alley, 21, a member of the Mercer football squad in 1939. Both youths played football in 1938 on the Knoxville high school team. The plane circled over the stadium several times, apparently out of control, witnesses said, and then plunged earthward, shearing off the tops of two trees and driving into a house.

Puerto Rican Official Object of Assassins

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Sept. 29.—(AP)—One man was killed and two injured at Utuado yesterday in an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Speaker of the House Miguel Angel Garcia Mendez, it was learned today.

Garcia Mendez's bodyguard, retained since he was fired on in 1936, killed the assassin.

Garcia Mendez recently broke away from a majority coalition to form the Tripartita party.

U.S. Keeps Role As Mistress of Pacific Ocean

Tie With Non-Naval Powers Weakens Japan.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(UP)—The new Berlin-Rome-Tokyo agreement has sharply altered the world's naval balance but will not materially affect the role of the United States Navy as the mistress of the Pacific, well-informed naval circles said tonight.

Japan's action undoubtedly has lent some potential strength to the Axis cause, but it has weakened Japan's naval prestige by tying her fate to that of two non-naval powers, they said.

Experts said that even with Japan's fleet thrown into the Axis cause, Britain would remain dominant on the seas. Japan, they said, now must consider the certainty that any naval action against Britain would leave the United States in a dominant position.

The United States fleet, bigger and more powerful than that of Japan, not only remains undisputed mistress of the eastern Pacific, but is now the only "free agent" in bidding for control of the middle and Far Western Pacific, experts maintained.

Japanese influence is principally moral in the present world lineup, strategists said. The alliance formalizing her military bonds with powers which now appear to be dominant in Europe would probably tend to offset United States pressure in the Far East, since implications of American naval action against Japan, according to the Japanese theory, would bring with it the counter-threat of German-Italian belligerency against the United States, experts said.

Bottleneck Solved In Plane Engines

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A bottleneck in aircraft engine production has been solved by the founding devoted exclusively to the moulding and casting of aluminum alloy cylinder heads, Myron B. Gordon, vice president and general manager of the Wright Aeronautical Corp., said today.

The new foundry, at Fairlawn, N. J., has facilities for the uninterrupted performance of all operations from raw materials to finished cylinder heads. Gordon said the plant is approaching full production.

Already producing 300 per cent more aircraft engines in its Paterson, N. J., plants than a year ago, the Wright organization will shortly begin construction at Lockland, Ohio, of another aircraft engine factory, capable of producing an additional 1,000 engines monthly.

Italy Demands Bases In Syria From France

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation, in a broadcast heard here by NBC, reported today Italian delegates meeting with the French had made the following four demands:

The use of Tripoli, Syria, as an Italian navy base; grounding at Rhodes of all French planes now in Syria for the duration of the war; handing over of two air bases in Syria, including Aleppo; complete demobilization of all French armed forces, excepting the police. The broadcast said that so far the French had rejected the second demand.

Lower Prices For Gasoline Sought by U. S.

Anti-Trust Suit To Be Filed Today by Justice Department.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Lower prices for gasoline and fuel oil were described by the Justice Department today as primary aims of the anti-trust suit it has prepared against the oil industry.

In a statement, the department said the suit would be filed in federal court for the District of Columbia and would name as defendants the American Petroleum Institute and 22 major oil companies and their subsidiaries. Attorney General Jackson announced yesterday that he had instructed the anti-trust division to proceed with the action.

A summary of the proposed complaint was issued by the department and listed charges ranging from conspiracy to maintain "noncompetitive prices" for crude oil to agreement on "uniform and exorbitant price differentials between various grades of gasoline."

Successful prosecution of the suit, the department's statement said, should provide not only lower prices to consumers of oil products but higher prices for independent oil producers.

"Lower prices for petroleum products," the statement added, "are of great importance to the government in its defense program. Finally, the production of oil should then be determined not on the basis of price maintenance but on true conservation principles."

MY DAY: Pearl Buck Presents Book of Hope

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

NEW YORK CITY, Friday.—I had tea yesterday afternoon in Washington for a group of the Henry George Foundation and then went over to the Chinese embassy, where Pearl Buck presented the Book of Hope to the ambassador. This Book of Hope means medical supplies for China, and the ambassador was appreciative of what American women had done.

Madame Chiang Kai-shek sent a message giving the thanks of the Chinese women and expressed it in the way which we have grown to appreciate in this country. I think that the wife of this Chinese leader has made a deep impression on the women of this country. Her courage, personality and determination to help the unfortunate people of her land establish themselves on a better economic basis has won great admiration among women over here. In addition, she was educated in this country which, of course, gives us a sense of pride in her achievements.

Last evening I attended a dinner given by the Women's National Democratic Club. I made a short speech and stood in line to shake hands with the guests. It was a very successful party and I was very glad to see Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Cordell Hull, Mrs. Claude Pepper and many other Democratic men and women gathered together so early in the autumn. It was my first day of social functions after a long summer's rest and I was rather glad to have the hand-shaking divided so that neither afternoon nor evening party was a strain.

The President, as usual, was extremely busy and was still hard at work on his basket of mail at midnight. Her Royal Highness, the Crown Princess Martha, with her lady-in-waiting and her chamberlain, were very much elated when we met at tea time, because they had found a very comfortable house in which to live and which will require very little done to before they move in.

This morning we flew back to New York city and a busy afternoon is about to begin here.

I received yesterday one of the most interesting statements I have read in a long time. It is a joint statement made by a group belonging to the National Conference of Christians and Jews on the question of religion and democracy. I like the first two sentences: "Religion and democracy are inextricably interwoven. Democracy's survival and growth are not possible without religion." Another definition is very clarifying: "We define religion as to know, to love, and to serve God."

These men are doing a splendid work in bringing together people of different religions to prove that common meeting grounds for thought and action can be found.

Piquant Basque Style for Tiny Tots

By Lillian Mae.

Your small daughter will look like her favorite story-book heroine in this captivating frock, Pattern 4529. Lillian Mae has combined basque lines with pinafore details to make a really enchanting style for nursery or kindergarten. There are bodice panels at both front and back, and the front waistline forms a shallow point to meet the flaring bias skirt. Pinafore-type ruffles crisp out from the bodice seams and may be either in contrast or matching fabric. The little collar would be gay in contrast, too; so would the bodice, sleeves and sash. Have the sleeves in short puffs or long and full. And don't forget the bloomers or panties that accompany the pattern.

Pattern 4529 is available in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6, short sleeve dress, takes 2 1/4 yards 35-inch fabric.

Send 15c in coins for this Lillian Mae pattern. Do not send stamps. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Restful Facial Treatment Is Excellent Pick-Up for Tired and Sluggish Skin

By Winifred Ware.

A woman never is too young or too old to need skin care. But as she grows older a woman needs even more than ordinary care. She needs not only regular daily cleansing and rich creams but she needs also pick-ups to stimulate tired and sluggish skin.

For a relaxing and beneficial treatment, we've found a fluffy luscious cream that smoothes tell-tale lines and enlivens the appearance of the skin. It's such a soothing facial cream this, that it gives you the feeling that the drab, lifeless skin actually is taking on new life and youth.

To use it, first cleanse your face thoroughly, then apply this soft, deep pink cream. Leave it until it is dry, then remove with tepid water. You'll be amazed at the velvety feel of the skin. This cream mask is a restful treatment for the tired, fatigued woman and it tends to keep the facial muscles firm and full of pep... both of which are the most important in keeping the skin youthful.

Color to the face again. Yes, we've discovered another fall red makeup, and it's prepared by the same manufacturer who makes the facial cream. The effect of this powder, lipstick and rouge is enchanting in either its naturalness or glamor—depending on the shades you select.

This lovely makeup may be had in beautiful shades which blend and harmonize with your own coloring and with new fall color schemes. The lipstick goes on smoothly, is bright yet dark enough and has a pleasing creaminess for those who do not like dry lipsticks. The powder comes in shades suited to the rest of your makeup.

These preparations are an old, well-established line, favorite with many, and during this week each may be bought for only a dollar. Those who use this line want to take advantage of this bargain and those who have not tried them would do well to look them over, with an eye to giving the face a treat.

I'll tell you the names of these preparations if you'll call me at The Constitution. Write, sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope, to Winifred Ware, care of this newspaper, if you live out of the city.

Active Life and Sufficient Vitamins Keep Brady Young

By Dr. William Brady.

Maybe I am only kidding myself, but I honestly believe I am younger today than I was 10 years ago. But in the past 10 years, besides adopting the practice of supplementing my diet with an optimal ration of the most important vitamins (D and B-complex) daily, I have been subjected to two other modifications of living or environment—namely, more sunshine in the winter months and four or five afternoons of the ancient game of lawn bowls—remember?—the game Sir Francis Drake remained to finish before he went to take care of the Armada.

I regard the game of bowls, as played for centuries in England, Scotland, and today in Canada and most of the far-flung British dominions, and now rapidly recruiting enthusiastic participants, not mere "fans," as the ideal natural outlet for the energy released by emotions or, as people commonly say, the stress of living, high tension or domestic or business cares and responsibilities. Persons from 15 to 90 can play lawn bowls well and with never-failing keenness and enjoyment. It is a game to which the players thrill, not the spectators paying to sit and watch salaried professionals at work. Here I put a finger on what I deem a major evil in modern American life—spectatorship. Watching others perform, whether the performance is considered work or play. Sitting or even standing in gallery bleachers, grandstand or stadium, indulging in hysterical capers, screaming, shouting, trying every startling thing you can think of to get yourself even momentarily the attention of a few of the people around you—in short, in your schoolgirlish fantasy enacting the role of the hero of the moment—this is a vicious Yankee custom which, in my opinion, vies with tobacco and alcohol, lately adopted as props for the failing charms of femininity, in hastening racial decadence. The antidote people need to counteract the injurious effects of restrained or repressed emotions in everyday life is action of one sort or another, doing something, not watching it done or doing it vicariously, in imagination. And so as a health student specialist, expert, author, if I may be so conceded, I look upon every new bowling green provided for the use of the men, women and older children in the community as a beneficence.

Formerly I believed daily walking the ideal form of action to absorb the energy released by everyday emotions and steady the functions of the body machinery. Hiking, or a stroll around the block or walking to and from work is still a fine health insurance, especially for sedentary folk. But in many communities walking has become hazardous, what with the licensing of millions of morons and other millions of cocktail imbibers as drivers. However, if one can walk, hike or stroll in lanes, fields or parks or forests beyond the range of motor traffic, oxygen on the hoof is still a most effective prophylactic and corrective for what ails sad gray youth in America.

Yes, there are thousands of American girls with heavy hearts nowadays because boy-friends are being separated from them. But how better can a girl prove her love for her boy friend than by cheering him on, seeing him off with a smile, and the men who have left their women in tears haven't had the same value as soldiers as the men who carry the memory of a woman's smile.

Read your history, Susie, and learn that next to being babies the best thing a woman has to give to the world is courage. Since the world began women have seen their men go to war. The weak ones have wept and made the parting painful. The strong have sent their men off with a smile. And the men who have left their women in tears haven't had the same value as soldiers as the men who carry the memory of a woman's smile.

Absence makes the heart grow fonder, anyhow, for a short time. All the delicious letters that pass between young lovers, syrupy, sentimental, swearing eternal allegiance with never a disenchanting experience to break the spell, are food for love. Nobody is cross because one kept the other waiting. Nobody is mad because the other showed too much attention to another girl or boy. The shave that wasn't had, the nose that wasn't powdered can't be seen through the mail. Only love and kisses flow through pen to paper, all inhibitions removed, all guards down.

Three cheers for the draftees and three cheers for the brave girl friends who want their boy friends to be good soldiers! CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Bonita Granville Thinks Playing Role in Love Story Is Thrilling

By Sheila Graham.

For North American Newspaper Alliance.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29.—Seventeen-year-old Bonita Granville sits precariously on the arm of 18-year-old Jackie Cooper's chair. They are co-featured in the picture, "Fighting Sons." A better title would be "Loving Boy and Girl." Bonita and Jackie are what is known in Hollywood—and elsewhere—as romantically inclined toward each other. They have had a few unchaperoned dates and are thoroughly enjoying their present chore of puppy love for the picture. "But I wish," says Bonita, with her arm around Cooper's waist—"I wish this love story was like the one I had with William Holden (in "Those Were the Days"). It was most thrilling. They let me be kissed just as though I were grown up!"

"Fighting Sons" marks the return of young Mr. Cooper to Metro, which he left six years ago on the understanding that he was completely through in pictures. "They offered to keep me under contract until I was 21, if I would accept a cut in salary to one-tenth of what I was getting. It was to be a sort of pension until I was through adolescence," says Jackie. "But I didn't want a pension. I wanted to work. So I said goodbye to Metro (where he made his biggest successes, among them "The Champ"). And free-lanced. In the past three years I've earned as much as I earned in any three years at Metro."

All of which should make Mr. Cooper a happy young man. But there is a frown on his youthful forehead today. And here's why: "All my life I've been playing the drums," says Jackie, bitterly. "So when a picture is made about a drummer, they ask me to play it." No. They give it to Mickey Rooney, who has only just learned how to drum. "Which only goes to prove that Mickey is the wonder boy of the age. Wait until you see him at those drums in "Strike Up the Band."

"Someone," says W. C. Fields on the "Bank Dick" set at Universal, "someone has been putting pineapple juice in my—pineapple juice." Between scenes Bill is keeping up his strength with the

Smart Wife Keeps a Trim Figure

By Ida Jean Kain.

It seems as though avoidpoids doesn't carry any weight with the judiciary—a man can't divorce his wife simply because she weighs 100 pounds or so above her legal limit!

At least, that was the decision handed down recently in a case in which the plaintiff testified that the wife's weight had increased from 140 pounds to 256 in their 14 years of marriage. That's an average of only eight pounds a year—but the husband thought it added up to 116 pounds too much.

The court noted, however, that the husband has the reputation of being an excellent amateur cook and took the view that he might have been guilty of culinary collusion—the superabundance of good cooking he provided—why couldn't this use a little restraint!

But this case is so exceptional that it isn't likely to establish a precedent. For one thing, it's the little woman usually who is famed for her good cooking. She gets to be a famous cook because she prepares and samples—and she dishes her husband, particularly likes. If she loses her figure, it's partly because she does a little too much sampling.

The home maker deserves leniency in the matter of weight. It is very difficult to be a good food master the time and not take too much of it. It is no snap to plan tempting menus, do the marketing, cook, clear off the table—and stick to a diet.

Another thing that makes it hard for the home maker to keep her perspective about food is the average man's chivalry—or cowardice—on the subject of weight. The man who took his wife's avoidpoids to the divorce courts is the only husband we have ever heard of who didn't try to side-step the issue. Ask a man about the feminine vogue for slimmness, and what does he say? Well, he puts a placating expression on his face, and avers that he likes "women to have a little weight," and that he thinks his wife is perfect "just as she is!"

If he gets a divorce, he does it on grounds of "incompatibility" or "mental cruelty"—and not until he marries a slim, size 14 secretary is there any valid reason to suspect he really prefers women slim!

A woman has to use her intuition to discover a man's real likes and dislikes, and the smart home maker works her intuition over time. In addition, she is becoming more expert every year in the art of juggling calories and giving her family the foods that contribute to high vitality. She is doing a swell job of keeping her own figure and is even managing to help the head of the house to keep his weight down!

But back to the case in point—after weighing the evidence, we'd suggest that the best way for this wife to keep her husband would be to get her figure back! Quickest safe way to take your weight down with the aid of Ida Jean Kain's "Twenty-One Day Diet," which will do away with 10 excess pounds. Send stamped return envelope for the diet to Miss Kain, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

BONITA GRANVILLE.

juice—undiluted, he says—of the pineapple. And it's certainly doing a lot for him. I think the Pineapple Growers' Association should use him as a testimonial, providing, of course, that Bill's quart a day is, as he insists with a wink, undiluted!

The scene is the saloon in the Black Pussy-Cat Cafe. Bill has just given a "Mickey Finn" to Franklin Pangborn—to keep him from examining the bank finances (from which Bill has lately purloined $700). And Bill feels thirsty. "Give me a poultice," he commands the barman. The "poultice" is supposed to be a highball. Actually it's black tea. . . . After the scene Bill rushes to his pineapple juice to erase the taste.

Mr. Fields has chosen red as his color scheme today. His face is a bright scarlet—from too much sun bathing. And his chair is a red rocker. This is carried around by a boy so that Bill, who hasn't been too well lately, can sit down wherever and whenever he stops working. Bill, by the way, is in his sixtieth year. He has been acting for more than 55 years, and at no time during the past 20 years has earned less than $100,000 a year. And yet they say that the life and earning power of an actor is short!

Between "shots" on the "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" set plump Alfred Hitchcock talks of his recent travels in Canada. "I was in Montreal for the showing of 'Foreign Correspondent,'" says the British director. "And I had to go to Ottawa in a hurry. So I hired a taxi (distance between the two cities is 126 miles), told the driver to wait for me outside the theater in Ottawa, saw my picture again (it runs over two hours), taxied back to Montreal, paid the taxi man $150 and tip, boarded the plane for New York and Hollywood. And here I am!" Who says the British are slow?

Start Planning a Bang-Up Party for Halloween Night

Spooky shadows, an old witch mumbling spells about your future into her magic cauldron—that's the keynote of your Halloween party! And a bang-up party it will be if you keep the fun at fever pitch with clever fortunes, stunts and games.

The old witch is really just a pal of yours disguised in a false face and creepy black garments. And, of course, the kettle is an ordinary kitchen pot with red crepe paper and flashlights imitating a fire. Dipping her ladle into the magic pot, she hands each guest a twist of paper with a clever fortune written on it.

And my! the shrieks that greet your Halloween version of "Mystery Box." In an ordinary box place such objects as a rubber glove filled with shaved ice, a piece of steel wool, an old shoe tree!

Now turn out the lights and tell your guests you're going to pass around the Ghost's Hand, the Witch's Wig, the Skeleton's Shin Bone—and so on. Then, when everyone has had a chance to feel your scary collection, turn the lights on and have your guests try to write a list of what the box really contained. A prize for the best answer.

But lest your party get too creepy, provide some hilarious stunts like Apple-on-the-Pie-Plate. The trick is to get from a standing position to a prone position on the floor, while balancing on your head an apple on a pie plate.

Then, there's Jumping Match Box and Floppy-Slipper Race—both fun-provoking favorites. Our 40-page booklet, GAMES FOR GOOD PARTIES, tells how to play these and many more fascinating games—ice-breakers, fortune stunts, team games and pencil-and-paper games—to make all your parties go over with a bang!

Send 15 cents in coins for our booklet, GAMES FOR GOOD PARTIES, to Home Institute, The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

Woman's Quiz

Q. Can cut flowers be treated so that they will last longer?

A. When the flowers are first cut, place them in water in a cool place away from direct sunlight for several hours; preferably overnight. This stops the flowers from making further growth which wastes the food stored in the stem, and more food will be left to keep the plant tissues alive, making the flowers last longer. A free circular, "Preserving Leaves and Flowers," may be obtained from The Constitution Service Bureau, 1013 Thirteenth Street, Washington, D. C., by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Have you a household problem to solve? Write your question clearly, sign your name and address, enclose a three-cent postage stamp and mail to The Woman's Editor of The Constitution, 1013 13th Street, Washington, D. C., for a personal reply. Don't telephone; write as directed.

Purely Personal Chatter About Atlanta Debutantes

(Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of articles appearing every Monday and giving intimate glimpses concerning Atlanta debutantes. The Sally Forth articles will continue through the autumn and winter until the debutante season closes.)

ALTHOUGH MADE an Atlanta by adoption four years ago, lovely Martha Merritt, secretary of the current Debutante Club, has carved for herself an enviable position in Atlanta society. The attractive belle, who, formerly resided in Huntsville, Ala., and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hynds.

She attended Washington Seminary, where she was among the school's most versatile students. During her senior year she was elected treasurer of her class, this being only one of many honors conferred upon her. She was a member of the Phi Pi social sorority, the Washington Seminary Circle of Tallulah Falls, and a member of the Pirates' Club, exclusive girls' sub-deb social organization.

Following her graduation from the seminary, Martha attended Mount Vernon Seminary in the national capital, where her charm and sparkling personality won for her a wide circle of friends.

Martha, you know, will bow to Atlanta society at an elaborate ball at which her parents will be hosts on November 8 at the Piedmont Driving Club, this to mark the first debut party of the season.

Sally has just heard that the deb's brother, Bill, who has resided in New York for the past six months, arrives in Atlanta two weeks hence, where he will make his future residence. He will be on hand to compete with the numerous partners seeking dances with the belles at the fall series of brilliant coming out balls.

Martha's only sister, Mrs. S. L. Brentnall, of Birmingham, the former Sally Merritt, will also be here for her debut. Sally, you recall, made her bow to society several years ago at a festive ball in Birmingham. She was listed among the most popular deb's of the season, so it is easy to understand that popularity and charm are family traits.

Martha is an ardent badminton enthusiast, and is also adept at bridge. As for dancing, she is confident to Sally that she "loves it." Further attesting the lovely deb's popularity is the series of brilliant parties planned for her during the fall and winter social season.

Lives Revert to Normalcy As Clubs Announce Pledges

By KATHRYN BARNWELL DUDLEY.

The furor has subsided! High school rushes, who have been literally rushed off their nimble feet for the past week by the almost hysterical pledging efforts of the Phi Pi, O. B. X.'s, Sigma Deltas and Pi Pi's, have at last made their eagerly awaited decisions, in which lies one of today's most important announcements.

Peace and contentment again reign supreme in Atlanta homes and active members of the sub-deb social organizations are relaxed after the turmoil of rushing. Needless to say, they are exhausted.

Rush Week, you recall, began last Wednesday, when dozens of automobiles, colorfully lettered with the insignia of the four popular sororities and gaily bedecked with streamers, were lined up in front of school buildings, awaiting the closing bell.

Today the results of the week's activities are revealed with the announcement of the pledge pins accepted by the attractive rushes. Those wearing pins of the Sigma Delta sorority are Misses Jacquelyn Pope, Joan Harper, Margaret Ann Speas, Carroll Smith, Joan Smith, Nevin Adkins, Helen Beaudry, Mildred Carpenter, Valeria McCullough, Jane Patton, Elsie Martin, Peggy Hancock, Frances Shepard, Marjorie Moore, Jinky Moore, Barbara Regenstien, Elizabeth Cheves, Jean Burton, Betty Dorman, Bayne Gibson, Mary Ainsworth and Mary Elizabeth McDuffie.

Accepting Phi Pi pledge pins were Misses Emily Alexander, Frances Beers, Margo Bennett, Laura Brown, Anne Burkhardt, Anne DuPre, Betty Fitts, Harriet Garner, Frances Grove, Myrtle Grove, Clara Jones, Mary Alice McDougall, Nancy McLarty, Marion Moise, Sally Prescott and Leah Sullivan.

Out-of-town girls issued were accepted by Misses Lucy Kiser, Harriet McKenna and Anne Owens.

New members of O. B. X. sorority are: Misses Ruth Reynolds,

Betty Marshall, Ophelia Bell, Rebecca James, Jacquelyn Pope, Jean Cantwell, Mary Quisenberry, Clara Jones, Barbara Wilson, Marion Bell, Kay Wilhoit, Betty Jane Williams, Pat Fable, Wayne Ripley, Betty Green, Margaret Wilson, Jane Malcolson, Pat Slinger, Marilyn Stroud, Elsie Martin, Margaret Stoddard, Mary Cecile Brown, Betty Bromley, Betty Murphy, Roslyn Ison and Joyce Moody.

Pi Pi's pledged: Misses Marion Bell, Jean Davidson, Ethel Lee Hill, Louise Hoyt, Laura Belle Jarvis, Gloria Jernigan, Marion Quisenberry, Julia Reeves, Helen Roberts, Jean Trevett, Mathilde Turner, Ruth Limbert, Carol and Joan Smith, Mary Callaway, Catherine Snider, Mildred Carpenter, Louise White, Betty Groves, Jean Carter, Jacquelyn Pope and Marion Hodges.

Throughout the week Peachtree traffic was menaced by the caravans of a number of cars crowded with excited sub-debs. Parties galore marked that most hectic time of a high-school belle's year, known as Rush Week.

The girls even went so far as to contribute a few new ideas for original entertainment, having inaugurated the "Come and Get It Party," the "Spider Party" and the "Shipboard Frolic."

Now that the rushes have graduated to "freshmen," next on their program of forthcoming events is initiation, when they will be officially christened with axle grease, raw eggs, glue and grapefruit. And it is a safe bet that they will be privileged to taste a bit of asafetida before the ritual is over!

The festive social life which follows initiation more than makes up for the gruesome ordeal. There are parties of varying brilliance extending throughout the year, the most elaborate of which are the formal dances at which Phi Pi, Sigma Delta, O. B. X. and Pi Pi entertain during the winter season.

The lives of Atlanta have reverted to normal. Rush Week is over.

Miss Huff and Mr. Duncan Marry at Home Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Huff and Mr. Charles Duncan was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the St. Charles place residence of Dr. and Mrs. L. N. Huff, parents of the bride. Rev. W. M. Elliott performed the impressive ceremony. Stately palms and fern formed the background for the altar.

White chrysanthemums, dahlias and roses in graceful arrangements created an artistic effect, and eleven-branched candelabra held white tapers.

Miss Matilee Youmans, of Brenau College, rendered the appropriate musical program and the aisle leading to the altar was marked with satin ribbon.

Dr. Perry N. Huff was groomsmen and L. N. Huff Jr. was best man for the groom. Mrs. A. P. Reynolds was matron of honor and Miss Martha Hill was bridesmaid.

Mrs. Reynolds was gowned in blue tulle, fashioned with tight-fitting bodice, short puffed sleeves and the sweetheart neckline was accented with pink velvet ribbons. The skirt was very full and she wore a hat made of matching tulle. Sweetheart roses formed her bouquet.

Miss Hill's gown was of hyacinth blue tulle, trimmed with royal blue velvet ribbons. The dress was designed with sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves and bouffant skirt. Her flowers were valley lilies and red roses.

The radiantly lovely bride was given in marriage by Dr. L. N. Huff, her father. Her gown was made of ivory satin with the neckline and leg of mutton sleeves trimmed with real lace. Her finger-tulle veil was fastened to her brown hair with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of bridal roses and valley lilies. Her only ornament was a beautiful locket which belonged to the groom's mother.

Dr. and Mrs. Huff entertained at a reception after the ceremony and was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Marshall L. Miller and Miss Elizabeth Harvey. The table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Pink roses and white chrysanthemums encircled the base of the cake.

Mrs. L. N. Huff, mother of the bride, wore a black silk eyelet gown with matching accessories and her flowers were gardenias. Mrs. M. M. Duncan, mother of the groom, wore navy blue silk with navy blue accessories and her flowers were Talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan departed on a wedding trip which includes a tour of the United States and a trip to the Hawaiian Islands. The bride traveled in a soldier blue suit worn with black accessories. A cluster of orchids graced her hair and she wore a handsome fur coat. Upon their return from their trip, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan will reside in Atlanta.

May 21st and June 20th (GEMINI)—You may not find it easy to come to agreements previous to 1:09 p. m., so care should be given to travel, business and daily living. After 1:09 p. m., favors private affairs, communications, and things that have been hard to complete.

August 23rd and September 22nd (VIRGO)—Plan to seek favors or go after things you have wanted for a long while, but stay away from highly seasoned foods.

September 23rd and October 22nd (LIBRA)—Between 8 a. m. and 10:09 p. m., favor general business and personal interests, contacts with those in high positions, social welfare. After 10:09 p. m., there will be a need for discretion in regard to promises, agreements, communications and travel.

October 23rd and November 21st (SCORPIO)—Wait to make important decisions if possible—until after 11:45 a. m. The influences from 11:45 a. m. through 7:16 p. m., tend to bring a clearer mind and a quicker insight into affairs. The day and evening favor social and domestic interests.

November 22nd and December 21st (SAGITTARIUS)—The period previous to 1 p. m., favors matters of ordinary importance along domestic, business and personal lines. After 1 p. m., do not appear to favor new or important undertakings.

December 22nd and January 18th (CAPRICORN)—The entire day favors commercial and financial dealings, legal matters, contacts with neighbors and near relatives. Do not expect too much from social affairs this evening.

January 19th and February 18th (AQUARIUS)—The entire day favors practically all lines of endeavors. Be active and energetic in promoting all matters. The afternoon hours are more favorable than previous to 1:27 p. m.

February 19th and March 20th (PISCES)—During the entire day and until 5:07 p. m., financial efforts and actual finances may be wasted if you give in to a feeling of too lavish spending. After 5:07 p. m., favors romantic affairs.
